Warren Federal Land Bank Reduces Interest Feb. 1st

Interest on Loans Made in 1960 Is Cut One-half Per Cent to 5½ Per Cent

A total of 6,700 farmers who borrowed from the Federal Land Bank in 1960 will have $335,000 more to spend in 1961 as the result of interest rate reduction of ½% effective February 1, 1961, according to Harold Sorenson, manager of the Warren Federal Land Bank association.

These farmers borrowed over 67 million dollars from the bank at 6 per cent. However, because of the policy of the Land Bank to provide credit at the lowest possible cost, the interest charged on this group of loans is being reduced to 5½ per cent until further notice. The immediate result to these Land Bank borrowers is a savings of $335,000 the first year; these savings may exceed two or three million dollars before this group of loans is paid in full. These borrowers have the further assurance that the interest charged on their loans cannot exceed the stated loan rate, but may be reduced still further if conditions warrant.

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul makes long-term farm mortgage loans in Minnesota, North Dakota, Michigan and Wisconsin through 100 Federal Land Bank associations, and is a part of a nation-wide, farmer-owned system of 12 Land Banks which has returned over 55 million dollars in dividends to farmers thruout the country since 1943.

The Federal Land Bank association of Warren serves farmers in Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington and Roseau counties. "Rates on loans presently being made have also been reduced to 5½ per cent," Sorenson stated.

Prowler Quint Takes Crookston 71 to 64

With lanky Ron Hanson turning in a top-flight performance off the offensive board, and connecting for five field goals and a pair of free throws in the first period coach Jack Hunter's Prowlers moved into a 24 to 13 lead in the district conference basketball game played at Crookston on Friday night.

Cotninuing their strong play in the second period, the Prowlers built up a 44 to 27 lead at the half-time intermission; but in the second half the aggressive play of the Pirates pared this point-cushion, and the Prowlers had some anxious moments before they left the floor with a 71 to 64 victory. It was the eleventh win in twelve starts for the Prowlers this season.

On Friday night, Feb. 10, the Prowlers will meet the Climax Vikings on the high school court here; and on Saturday night, Feb. 11, the Prowlers will meet the Elbow Lake team on the Moorhead State College floor at 6:30 P.M.

In Friday night's tilt at Crookston, the Prowlers maintained control of the tempo of the game throughout the first period, and with Hanson having a 22-point first half, it appeared that the locals would rack up a decisive win. The Prowlers added to their lead in the second period, with Hanson proving very effective in tipping in rebounds, and the locals held a 17-point lead, 44 to 27, at the halftime break.

With several of the Prowler reserves in the lineup to open the third period (Don Ulferts and Eddie Lietzow were carrying three fouls apiece and were taken out of the game as a precautionary measure), the Crookston Pirates unleashed an 11-point flurry that erased considerable of the Prowler lead and brought the ever-trying Pirates to within 8 points, 46 to 38, of the Prowlers.

Coach Junker rushed the Prowler regulars back into the game, but Crookston, using a full-court press, continued to harass the locals and force misplays by the Prowlers. Three field goals, late in the third period, boosted the Prowler lead to 57 to 42 as the two teams moved into the final eight minutes of play.

The Pirates, with Dale Johnson and Jim Turner hitting for a pair of field goals apiece, pared the Prowler lead to 7 points, 59 to 52 wih five minutes to play. Hanson then scored on a "dunker," and followed with a tip-in on Gary Anderson's long shot, and the Prowlers held a 10 point lead with 4:15 to play. Dale Johnson, who scored 26 points for the Pirates, hit on a jump shot from the lane; but Hanson tallied a field goal and a pair of free throws to give the Prowlers a 67 to 54 lead with 2:41 to play.

The Pirates made desperate efforts to get within reach of the Prowlers, but game-time ran out just as Dale Johnson notched two free-throw points, to pare the Prowlers' win to seven points, 71 to 64.

The Prowlers' Hanson and the Pirates' Dale Johnson were the game's high-point players, with Hanson having 31 points, and Johnson racking up 26 points.

Warroad Six to Face Prowlers on Tuesday

Coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers will move into the friendly confines of the Arena rink on Tuesday night as they meet the Warroad Warriors in a Region Eight conference game and attempt to snap a five-game losing streak. Game time for the varsity tilt is at 8:00 P.M. and the preliminary game, between the Warrior 'B' squad and the Prowler 'B' squad, will get under way at 6:30 P. M.

The Prowler schedule will be concluded on Saturday, Feb. 11, when the locals travel to Crookston for a game against coach Bill Sullivan's Cathedral Blue Wave.

The Region Eight tournament play will begin on Monday, Feb. 13, at Warroad, with team number ten playing team number eight, and team number four playing team number five. On Tuesday, Feb. 14, at Warroad, team number two will play team number seven, and team number three will play team number six. The semi-finals and finals of the regional tourney will be played at Roseau on Feb. 16 and 17.

In the two conference games played on Friday and Saturday, the Prowler met up with a pair of "hat trick" performances as they dropped decisions to the Roseau Rams, 6 to 0, at Roseau on Friday, and 4 to 2 to Baudette, at Baudette on Saturday.

Lefty Dave Backlund, scoring a goal in each period, sparked the Rams to their 6 to 0 win on Friday night. And on Saturday, Baudete's Jack Nielson, scoring twice in the first period and adding a goal in the third period, led the Bears to a 4 to 2 win over the locals.

The Prowlers, who had been held scoreless through three games, against St. Paul Johnson, Hallock, and Roseau, finally dented the goal-mesh by tallying twice in the final period against Baudette. Larry Poole, with an assist from brother Tony, scored at the 8:00 Mark, and Keith Poppenhagen, with Jack Houfek assisting, scored at 10:00 mark.

Senior Hockey Attractions

Thursday night, at 8 p.m., and Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., senior hockey fans will have an opportunity to witness a pair of games that should provide top-flight entertainment. On Thursday night, coach Barry Thorndycraft will bring the North Dakota University freshman team here for a game against the Thieves. And on Sunday afternoon, Wilf Beaulieu, the old veteran of the States-Dominion hockey wars, will bring the Emerson Canadians here for a game.

The Sioux freshmen boast one of the most promising squads that North Dakota has had since the days when Joey Poole and Les Merrifield were freshmen there. (Joey and Les will be playing for the Thieves against the Sioux frosh.) And one of the stars on this North Dakota freshman team is burly Don Ross of Roseau.

It is the consensus of the experts who have watched the Sioux yearlings in action that Ross is destined for college hockey greatness. He has all the qualifications, being immensely strong, and possessing a shot that reverberates like a sonic boom. Don plays at a wing, and he surely is a problem for the opposing blueliners.

And Sunday's game with Emerson should continue the fine hockey of Thursday, for Wilf Beaulieu has a strong club at the border city. Emerson has been noted for its fine hockey for many years, and this season's club is no exception. One of the stars of the club is Daytone Secour, a North Dakota student who has played a game or two with the Thieves. And also a member of the Emerson team is Gary Granum, a former Thief River Falls native who played his high school hockey at Grand Forks, and who is now attending North Dakota U. Kenny Wellen, the Hallock high school coach, is also a member of the Emerson club.

Admission prices for the games are ninety cents, fifty cents, and fifteen cents.

Probably the Best

We have had the occasion to watch most of highly-touted and publicized basketball players in the district and region this season, and it's our opinion that, on a pound-for-pound and inch-for-inch basis, Crookston's Dale Johnson is one of the best. Probably the best.

Against the Prowlers last Friday night, Johnson, a guard, racked up 26 points. That accomplishment, against the club that is rated the district's best, and, with Bemidji, one of the best in the region, is an indication of Johnson's play under pressure.

Considering the physical "armor" that Johnson carries into a game—we doubt if he will weigh in at 135 pounds on his five-foot eight-inch frame—it is remarkable that he can put on the scoring bursts that he does. And, too, he does an expert job in maneuvering his slight frame into position to recover more than his share of rebounds.

Johnson is a senior this year and he will be concluding his high school cage career with next month's tournament play. But it is doubtful if Dale will attract very many college offers. It is unfortunate that the trend in college basketball, and in high school-basketball, too, is toward the "big" man. With the control of the backboards rated as sixty to seventy per cent of basketball, the coaches are all looking for the big and burly boys who can clear the boards. Dale, in spite of his talents, isn't attractive to the college scouts because he's a small "small man". Well, he looked plenty "big" to us last Friday.

'B' Prowler Quint Edges Crookston

Score 49-44 Victory in Game There Friday Night

After rolling to a 17 to 9 first period lead, with Mike Aune leading the scoring with three field goals, coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' team was hard-pressed to hold off the rallying Crookston 'B' team to win Friday night's preliminary game played at Crookston, 49 to 44.

The Prowler 'B's rolled up their winning margin in the late minutes of the fourth period when, with the score tied at 44-all, Gary Kelly dropped in a field goal, and John Aune added a free throw and a field goal.

Crookston's five starters—Mickelson, Myrold, Dewar, Heldstab, and Anderson—played the entire game for the Pirates. The game's scoring honors were shared by Elton Hornseth and John Aune of the Prowlers and Gerry Heldstab of the Pirates, with 11 points apiece.

G. Forks Quintet Trips Prowlers

Jon Plaas' three-point play with seven seconds of the overtime period remaining to be played, scoring a lay-up shot into the west basket for two points and then adding a point on a free throw when fouled on the play, gave the Grand Forks Central Redskins a 52 to 51 win over the Prowlers in a hectic basketball game played here Saturday night.

The Prowlers, after trailing by ten points, 41 to 31, entering the fourth period, had made a dramatic comeback to tie the game at 47-all at the end of regulation time.

In the overtime period, Ron Hanson, who had been on the sidelines throughout the entire third period as he was carrying three personal fouls, scored two points on a free throw, Eddie Lietzow added a point on Ron Bergh's foul, and the Prowlers held a 50 to 47 yead. Plaas, from in close, score a Grand Forks field goal, paring the lead to one point. Lietzow, on a foul by Bergh, notched a point, and the locals led by two points. Then came Plaas' winning effort, a field goal and a free throw.

The Prowlers held a 14 to 7 lead at the end of the first period of play, and a 24 to 19 advantage at the intermission. Hanson, who had picked up three fouls, was taken from the game early in the second period, and his removal gave coach Marv Skaar's Redskins a height advantage off the boards.

In the third period, the Redskins turned in their finest scoring effort, rolling up twenty-two points while limiting the Prowlers to but seven points, all scored on free throws.

With Hanson's return to the lineup in the fourth period, the Prowlers began a surge that carried the team to a 45 to 43 lead with 3:30 to play. Jerry Evenson, who was the game's high scorer, tossed in a one-handed shot from the lane, knotting the score at 45-all.

Harvey Ebbighausen, from just off to the right of lane, looped in a field goal, and the Prowlers led by 47 to 45 with 1:52 to play. Evenson, from the right corner of the court, scored on a one-handed loft that sent the game into overtime, scoring with less than a minute to play.

4,096 Boys Sharing in Scout Activities in Lake Agassiz Council

The year 1960 was one of the busiest and most successful for the Lake Agassiz council, Boy Scouts of America, it was reported today by R. C. Hadlich, president of the council in connection with the annual observance of Boy Scout Week. Last year was the movement's 50th anniversary.

Hadlich said that the Lake Agassiz Council now serves a total of 4,096 boys in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring. This total represents an increase of 398 boys over the close of 1959, he added.

There are now 59 Cub Scout packs, 70 Boy Scout Troops and 19 Explorer units within the Lake Agassiz council. There is a net gain of 15 units over the previous year.

The national council of the Boy Scouts of America reported from its headquarters in New Brunswick, New Jersey, that 1960 closed, with 5,160,958 boys and adult leaders enrolled on December 31 last. This is an all-time high in active membership. Also, the 130,368 units represent the largest total of these "service stations for youth" in its history.

In its 51 years the Boy Scouts of America has touched the lives of 33 million Americans.

The Lake Agassiz council was well represented by 43 Scouts, Explorers and leaders at the greatest single non-military encampments in United States history. This was the Fifth National Jamboree which saw a new 2,500-acre tented city spring up at Colorado Springs, Colorado. There last July 22 to 28 some 58,986 boys and leaders camped together.

On the weekend of the jamboree, some 850 other Scouts who remained home took part in the council's jubilee camporee, camping overnight. This was held at the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Holt, Minnesota.

A total of 360 Cub Scouts held jubilees—one day outings with parents participating. These were conducted in school yards, playgrounds, parks, and private sites.

Older boy members, known as Explorers, staged their own field day, featuring contests and demonstrations. Some 50 Explorers and leaders took part at the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

The Lake Agassiz council thru its gain in membership in 1959, was recognized in April during the Region Ten annual meeting as the leader of the 17 councils in the region.

At the annual meeting of the national council held in Washing, D. C., the first of June, the council was one of 50 in the nation to have the highest gain in rural membership. There are 540 councils in the United States.

Marvin Kline Held Guilty of Larceny

Former Kenny Institute Director May Appeal

A district court jury in Minneapolis weighed 10 days worth of evidence and testimony a little more than three hours Thursday night, then convicted former Minneapolis Mayor Marvin L. Kline of grand larceny.

The jurors upheld the state's contention that Kline fraudulently engineered for himself a $23,000 pay raise while director of the Sister Kenny Foundation in 1957.

Judge Levi M. Hall deferred sentencing for a week. Kline could receive up to 10 years in prison.

Defense attorney Si Weisman said he may ask an additional delay if an appeal is taken.

Kline, who has been in poor health, appeared crushed as the verdict was delivered. His wife threw herself on his shoulder and broke down in sobs.

Kline remained free on $5,000 bond, as he had during the trial.

The charge against Kline followed last fall's investigation of foundation financial affairs by Attorney General Walter F. Mondale.

1,758,000 Motor Vehicles in State

Motor vehicle registrations have advanced to a new high during the past two years, Secretary of State Joseph Donovan said in his report Friday to the legislature.

On November 1, 1960, registrations totaled 1,758,00 or almost double the registrations in 1947, Donovan reported.

38,200 Deaths and 1,400,000 Injuries in Traffic in 1960

Cost of Accidents in Past Year in the U. S. Aggregates $6.4 Billion

The National Safety Council said today that traffic accidents in 1960 took the lives of 38,200 persons and caused 1,400,000 injuries disabling beyond the day of the accident.

It was the highest traffic death toll since 1957, when 38,702 persons met death, the council said. The 1959 traffic toll was 37,910 deaths and about the same number of disabling injuries as in 1960.

While the toll was rising one per cent from 1959, Americans in 1960 were setting a record-low rate of 5.3 deaths for every 100 million miles of motor vehicle travel. The mileage death rate in 1959 was 5.4.

A two per cent increase in travel in 1960 more than offset the 1 per cent rise in deaths, the Chicago-based safety organization pointed out. It said highway travel was a record 715 billion miles in 1960, as compared with 700 billion miles in 1959.

The cost of traffic accidents in 1960 was estimated by the National Safety Council at $6.4 billion. Property damage from traffic accidents was $2.15 billion.

For December alone, the council said, 3,520 persons died in traffic accidents — down 5 per cent from the December 1959 figure of 3,707.

State's Farm Income Rose Slightly in 1960

Minnesota agricultural income was better in 1960 than in 1959, but the improvement does not represent prosperity for the state's farmers, according to a University of Minnesota agricultural economist.

Elmer W. Learn, associate professor of agricultural economics, reports that total cash receipts from the sale of the state's farm products increased to $1,430 million in 1960. Although this was below the record cash receipts of $1,453 million in 1958, it was a $50 million increase over the 1959 total.

"Realized net income probably rose by a comparable amount, since production expenses and direct government payments remained close to their 1959 levels," said Learn.

Record crop production, increased daily production and prices and relatively favorable poultry prices boosted the total income above the 1959 level.

Realized net income (net income without adjustment for inventory change) probably rose more than 10 per cent above the level of $423 million received in 1959, said Learn.

"While this net income picture represents considerable improvement over 1959, it does not represent prosperity for Minnesota farmers," he stated.

"Realized net income in 1960 was still far below the $553 million received in 1958, Minnesota's best economic year since the Korean War.

"Farm production expenses, which reached a record $1,130 million in 1959, probably remained steady or declined slightly. The U.S. index of prices paid by farmers for production items declined slightly more than half of one per cent during 1960."

Learn also reported that direct government payments increased from $30 million to $32 million in 1960—largely due to increased payments under the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank program.

Storage payments for CCC grain stored on Minnesota farms exceeded $9 million in 1960. As a source of income, storage payments are now equal in importance to farm chickens and broilers, the economist said.

Learn's data are preliminary estimates based on information from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, State-Federal Crop and Livestock Reporting Service and the Minnesota office of the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

We Owe Them Much

To a three-year-old Chimpanzee named Ham goes the glory of being the first two-legged animal to travel into outer space and return safely to earth. But while Ham gets the glory, the credit for this achievement goes to the American scientists who have been making good progress in perfecting various types of projectiles, leading to this latest success with a space ship.

Ham was rocketed aloft at a speed of 5,000 miles an hour, reaching an altitude of 155 miles and parachuting gently to the surface of the Atlantic 420 miles from the point of departure at Cape Canaveral. It all happened in just a few minutes.

Whether or not the Russians still surpass us in this field of rockets and missiles and satellites, no one knows. We do know that we have made greater progress than they in some areas of these sciences since the launching of Sputnik. At that time they were far out in front, and we had to start practically from scratch. In just a few years we have come a long way.

There always will be new horizons for men of vision. Fortunately we have not been without men of vision and courage in the past. We owe them much.

Close Margins

Speaker Sam Rayburn won a close victory when the House voted 217 to 212 in favor of his proposal to enlarge the rules committee. Voting "yes" were 195 Democrats and 22 Republicans. Voting "no" were 148 Republicans and 64 Democrats.

This vote indicates by how small a margin the Kennedy forces control the House. It means that there will be substantial opposition to some of the President's proposals, and that no doubt will be in the interests of moderation.

This, we think, is all to the good. The rules committee should be representative of majority ideas generally. The right of the administration to have its proposals reach the floor of the House for consideration should be respected.

And it is well that majority control be maintained by a narrow margin, especially at a time when wild ideas are being tossed around recklessly and the stability of our government is threatened by the intemperate demands of pressure groups.

Missing-Ship Mystery

Now that the Santa Maria is back in the hands of its Portuguese owners, and its hundreds of passengers are safely on their way again after what must have been a frightening experience, the question of how a situation of this kind should have been dealt with becomes purely academic. The problem, nevertheless, remains interesting.

Piracy is a serious crime and cannot be tolerated. There was some support for the demand that the Santa Maria be taken by force, but that would have endangered the lives of the passengers. It might have been a case of burning a barn to destroy a few rats. The fact that a dangerous situation ended without any lives being lost is strong proof that the patient approach was right. Time will determine whether the men who had seized the ship were rascals or patriots.

There is another interesting angle to this theft of an ocean liner, however, that probably deserves continued consideration, and that is why the missing ship was so difficult to find. The Financial Post of Toronto, Canada, raised this question with these appropriate comments:

> "U.K. and U.S. naval units were ordered out on a Monday to track down the Portuguese ship that had fled St. Lucia in the West Indies only hours earlier. Air search joined in—and the forces fanned out like hungry hunters over the Caribbean.
>
> "Two days later, the Santa Maria was accidentally sighted by a Danish merchantman. Seven hours later still a U.S. plane finally pinpointed its position.
>
> "It took American forces almost as long to sight the Santa Maria as it took Columbus and his Santa Maria to sight America.
>
> "Billions upon billions of taxpayers' money is spent on defense of an early-warning, deterrent, watch-dog type.
>
> "But if U.K. and U.S. planes and ships can't find a 12-story liner lighted like a Christmas tree, babbling incessantly by radio, what, pray tell, can they do about "enemy" subs approaching these shores?"

The Word is "Must"

Business Week, in a recent edition, made some interesting comments on "two groups of specialists to whom the world looks for wisdom", who had held year-end meetings. The American Association for the Advancement of Science had met in New York, with some 7,000 members attending. In St. Louis, about 4,000 members of the American Economic Association had assembled. Business Week observed:

> "Both groups met in real ferment. But the difference between the two was great. The scientists were vastly excited by new knowledge and only beginning to be sharply concerned about its uses for good and evil in the world. The economists, even though some were bulging with ideas, were primarily interested in applying their knowledge.
> "The economists thought of themselves as policymakers—or at least advisors of policy—concerned with all the problems involved in maintaining the external and internal stability and growth of the U.S. in a rapidly changing world.' The excitement in their meetings, and even more in the corridor talk, came from the take-over of a new Administration in Washington. The thing that created the buzz in St. Louis was the prospect of new economic moves by the government.
>
> "The scientists met in a very different atmosphere. Science has had tremendous effect in the last decade—in directions as diverse as developing the hydrogen bomb and exploring Antartica. These develpements are already changing the lives of all of us—in ways as diverse as diplomacy and diet. But in the next decade the scientists see the explosion of knowledge bringing even more fundamental change to the world and they are concerned now about their role in helping the world adapt to the change they are doing so much to create."

It is good that we have both scientists and economists, and in these groups there are brilliant minds seeking sincerely for ways and means to make this a better world. It is understandable why these brilliant minds are not always in agreement. They probably are in general agreement as to objective. It is in their ideas as to how we should approach the good objective that there is conflict.

That might properly be said of all groups, and of most of the people within groups. It probably is well that we do not agree. The important thing is that we learn how to disagree peacefully, and resolve our differences without resorting to force.

This thought, in the opinion of Business Week, was the most important suggestion offered at either of the sessions, expressed by Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation. According to Business Week, he stated the need to spread scientific knowledge — to set up systems whereby people generally can be informed about developments and thereby function responsibly in making the decisions a democracy must make. He put the crucial nature of this in these words:

> "Whether future developments take the form of stupendous power over nature's resources, of influence and control over life and over men's minds, or of the traffic with our sister planets, they will in all probability raise problems of such concern to the human race that mankind must—repeat must—learn to cooperate in their solution."

Unlicensed Drivers

A bill is being introduced in the Minnesota legislature that would provide for the seizure of vehicles operated by drivers whose driving licenses have been suspended. This is one of several proposed laws that would provide more severe penalties for traffic violations.

The introduction of such bills is understandable. Most people will agree that something must be done to reduce the hazard of the highways, and that drastic action under some conditions is justified. There can be no excuse for the person who defies authority by driving after his right to drive has been taken from him.

But in our approach to this problem let's re-examine the point system upon which the revocation of a driver's license is based. The point system, in theory, is good but the present schedule of penalties, in terms of points, for minor infractions of the rules, needs some modifications.

Speeding calls for a loss of six points whether the driver is exceeding the speed limit by five miles an hour or fifty miles an hour. The severity of the penalty for a slight infraction of the rule, results in the law not being strictly enforced at the more moderate speeds. Police officers are human beings too, and a slight violation of a speed limit certainly is not nearly as serious as 100-miles-per-hour driving in heavy traffic.

Not all drivers who lose their licenses are dangerous drivers, but the point system, in which there is no flexibility, is mandatory. Now that serious consideration is being given to traffic laws, our point system might properly be re-examined with the view of making it more realistic and therefore more effective.

Another Powerful Punch

(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

Heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson has struck a blow for racial equality which may well prove more potent than the punches which flattened poor Ingemar last year.

Modest and unassuming, Patterson still has a quiet determination to do what he can to eliminate racial segregation. A clause in his next fight contract requires the promoter to post $10,000 as guarantee that there will not be racial discrimination in the sale of tickets or in seating arrangements. If the champion feels that there is discrimination, he can have the check sent to the NAACP.

Some southern states have prevented colored athletes from participating in athletic events with white men. Others have grudgingly realized that collegiate and professional football and basketball need the Negro athletes. But until now no one has found a method of assuring the Negro race that it can attend athletic events in the deep south on equal terms with those of lighter skin.

Patterson's flat declaration that he will not fight unless his people are treated respectfully is a potent step. It hits the promoters where it hurts the most—right in the pocketbook.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times;

I hear "game and fish" is on the march again, trying to put more wetlands in our area. They already have at least 500,000 acres and so far nothing has been done about feeding their game and birds, so the farmers are the ones that supply their feed.

I have nothing against hunting or any sportsmen in our community who are satisfied hunting the game that is naturally in this area, but we do not want more wetlands to draw in more ducks for us farmers to feed, and bring in beaver. For instance there is a beaver dam in the ditch on the east end of Mud Lake Refuge, clearly visible from the highway. It has been there at least eight months, the personnel at Mud Lake surely see it every one else does. So any one can come and see how they keep house.

Do you sportsmen working for these wetlands projects realize that some farmers have to feed ducks and keep on feeding them year after year, pay our own taxes plus yours.

The 27th of January a group of us farmers met with Game & Fish in St. Paul about holding out land in our community. Here again us farmers are forced to feed their game, because their game much prefer grain and alfalfa. To sumit all up, it's easy to sit in St. Paul or Thief River Falls and plan projects like Goose Lake and Elm Lake, when they can force the farmers to pay the whole bill, I call this very poor sportsmanship.

THE FINANCES OF FORESTRY

The pulp and paper industry owns, according to current Forest Industries Report, half a million acres, or about 3% of the state's commercial forest lands. All of this is open to the public for outdoor recreation, while at the same time it returns thousands of dollars in taxes and contributes heavily to the state's growing revenue from well-managed forest products. "Better forest management, including improved equipment, more access roads, fire protection, and selective cutting," says John V. Hoehne of Forest Industries, "are providing the surplus of pulpwood needed for the expansion of this industry." With the addition of 830,000 acres last year the state now owns approximately five million acres, of which about 60 per cent has forest status.

Timing Is Important

As every good salesman knows, timing is essential to successful selling. Best time to sell anyone is when he or she is looking to buy . . . in the advertising columns of his newspaper.

Many Barley Entries Seen at Winter Shows

One of the many features of the grain section of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, is the Barley Show. There has been a steady increase in the number of exhibits in this show each year and all indications point to a record number of exhibits this year. The Winter Shows dates are February 20-24.

The first premium in the open malting division will be $25 in cash. Cash premiums will be awarded for other placings also. A sweepstake award of $25 is being given to the best sample of barley in the show.

The three classes in the open division of the Barley Show are malting, feed and barley varieties not adequately tested. The samples must be field-run from the 1960 crop and must not be cleaned or hand picked. The sample must be one-half bushel in size and becomes the property of the management of the show.

A division for 4-H and FFA exhibitors is also divided into three classes of malting, feed and varieties of barley not adequately tested. The young people in this division must be enrolled in a 4-H or FFA barley project. The prize money here is equally good.

The varieties of barley eligible for the malting class are Kindred, Traill, and Parkland. Each sample should be clearly labeled as to variety, name and address.

Donors of prize money, plaques and ribbons for the Barley Show will be the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association, the Malting Barley Improvement association and the Minnesota Brewers' association.

Communist power, says the January Reader's Digest, in four decades has grown from a gleam in Lenin's eye to the absolute domination of nearly a billion people. To the Communists, writes Max Eastman, what we call peace is merely war conducted by other than military means.

'U' M. to Inaugurate. New President Feb. 23

The University of Minnesota will inaugurate its ninth president, Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, on February 23, the University's 110th birthday.

President Wilson will be the sixth University president to be installed in formal inaugural ceremonies and the second to be inaugurated in Northrop Memorial auditorium.

President Wilson will be inaugurated at 2:30 p.m. in Northrop Memorial auditorium on the University's 1961 Charter Day as the highlight of a day-long program of events. Day J. Quinlivan, St. Cloud, chairman of the board of regents, will preside, and Governor Elmer L. Andersen will represent the state of Minnesota. Approximately 500 delegates from colleges, universities and learned societies are expected to attend. Sixty of these will be presidents of their school. Northrop auditorium is expected to be filled to its capacity of nearly 5,000.

This 1961 inauguration will be in sharp contrast to that of the University's first president, William Watts Folwell, on December 22, 1869. A few hundred persons, mostly Twin Cities residents and students, attended the ceremony in the Hall of the University on the third floor of Old Main, the campus' lone building. The University at that time was still a frontier preparatory school and almost unknown among established colleges and universities in the East.

President Cyrus Northrop, who succeeded Folwell, was inaugurated June 10, 1885, in the Old Main chapel.

Inauguration of the University's third president—George Edgar Vincent—was a gala, three-day affair, complete with torchlight celebration, fireworks and a national symposium. The installation, attended by 1,300 persons, took place October 18, 1911, in the University's Armory. It set a precedent for future University inaugurations. For the first time, an academic procession preceded the ceremony, and delegates from other universities and colleges were invited.

Health Insurance Is Huge Business

$5.6 Billion Benefits Paid out During 1960

Health insurance benefit payments by all insuring organizations averaged an estimated $15.3 million a day during 1960, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

This represented an increase of more than $1 million a day over the average daily benefit payments made in 1959 by all health insurers, said the Institute, and an increase of $6.7 million a day over the 1955 average benefit of $8.6 million a day.

Health insurance benefit payments during 1960 by all insurers were estimated by the Institute at $5.6 billion, an increase of about nine per cent over the $5,175,000,000 paid out in 1959.

The institute said insurance companies accounted for $3 billion of the 1960 benefits while other insurers, including Blue Cross-Blue Shield, paid out some $2.6 billion. In 1959, insurance companies paid out $2,840,000,000 in benefits while other insuring groups paid out $2,335,000,000, said the institute.

Of the insurance company benefit total for 1960, the Institute estimated that some $2.2 billion went to help policyholders pay hospital, surgical and medical bills. The remaining $800 million was paid to persons with loss of income insurance to help replace income they lost as a result of injury or illness, the HII said.

Approximately the same amount in loss of income benefits was paid out by insurance companies in 1959, but in that year benefits for hospital, surgical and medical bills totaled a little more than $2 billion, stated the institute.

In terms of persons covered by some form of health insurance, the HII estimated that as of the end of 1960 some 132 million persons had hospital insurance, 120 million had surgical insurance, 86 million had regular medical insurance which helps pay for the cost of doctor calls and other non-surgical care by physicians, 25 million had major medical insurance, and 43 million had loss of income insurance.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing Mr. Leo L. Haley, VA contact representative, located in Rooms 210-11 in the Grand Forks postoffice building.

Q—Those receiving non-service-connected pension payments from the VA are asked each year to report their income. What happens if they fail to make this report?

A—VA must stop pension payments to those who fail to return the annual income questionnaire. Since the law requires that pensions not be paid to those with outside income over certain limitations, VA must know the recipient's income to determine pension eligibility.

Q—How many veterans of our Indian Wars are still living? How many Spanish-American War veterans?

A—VA records show 39 persons (average age 90) receiving benefits as Indian War veterans. There are about 35,000 Spanish-American War veterans still living.

Q—Have any of the various bills to re-open lapsed GI life insurance been passed by Congress?

A—No. Although several bills with this as aim have been introduced, none have received Congressional approval.

Q—Are the doctors and nurses at VA hospitals members of the different branches of military services?

A—No. The VA's doctors and nurses are civilians. Of course, they may belong to reserve units or even attend organized drills or training periods, but they are civilians in their capacities as VA employes.

Marshall ASC to Hold Series of Meetings

Requests for cost-sharing for conservation practices to be carried out during the 1961 program year which ends December 31 are now being accepted by the Marshall county ASC office. To be eligible for cost-sharing it is necessary to file requests for the practice before it is started. The form on which the requests for cost-sharing must be made, if cost sharing is desired, may be obtained at the meetings scheduled below. These will be all day meetings from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. After the series of meetings are held, the form may be obtained at the ASC County Office in Warren.

"We urge you to attend the meeting scheduled in your community," said Edward A. Johnson, chairman. "This will be the only meeting held in your community. Please study carefully the conservation practices for which ACP cost-sharing is available in relation to the conservation needs of your farm and try to decide in advance of the meeting which practices in ACP cost-sharing is most needed."

Meetings will be held in Eastern Marshall county as follows:

Viking school, Thursday, Feb. 9, Viking, New Solum.

Holt, Holt Cafe, Monday, Feb. 13, Holt, East Valley, Agder, Excel.

Middle River, City Auditorium, Tuesday, Feb. 14, Huntly, Como, Thief Lake, Spruce Valley, Whiteford, Cedar.

Grygla, Soil Conservation Service office, Thursday, Feb. 16, Moylan, Grand Plain, Valley, Espelie, Eckvoll.

Newfolden school, Friday, Feb. 17, Marsh Grove, Newfolden, New Maine, West Valley.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Stock watering pits are definitely multi-purpose conservation structures. Proof was readily available during 1960, a dry year, in Kittson County SCD. Clarence Bothun, a cooperator with the district, showed Clarence Treumer, work unit conservationist at Hallock, a brood of mallards that was successfully raised to maturity. The hen had raised her eight ducklings on a livestock watering pit. Many signs of other wildlife use were evident. Watering pits have other potentials too, fire protection and recreation, for example. "The cost of the pit is small in comparison with the increased use I get from my pasture land," Bothun says.

Cropping shifts to more row crops has been the rule for the past five years in Minnesota. Nearly seven million acres were planted to corn in 1959—that's 25 per cent more corn acreage than in 1954. Soybeans are up in acreage by about 15 per cent, according to the Census of Agriculture. Soils extension specialists at the University of Minnesota say proper tillage practices must be used if these acreages are to be supported without impairing our soil resources.

Water runoff reduced by two-thirds—that's the effect of contour strip cropping on Grant Bahe's farm in the Washington County SCD. Bahe says that since he has farmed on the contour, his farm has had no soil loss and practically no runoff from ordinary rains. Heavy downpours have caused only slight damage and even then topsoil which was removed from clean-tilled fields was not entirely lost because it was recovered in hay strips down the slope. F. L. Paulson, SCS technician at Stillwater, says that farmers who farm on the contour regularly get higher yields because of moisture that is saved. And topsoil and lime and fertilizer applications are held in place by the contour strip cropping.

• • •

Soil testing gains popularity with more Minnesota farmers each year. Over 33,000 soil samples were tested by the University of Minnesota Soil Testing Laboratory in 1960. Soil tests take the guesswork out of lime and fertilizer applications, tell you exactly which nutrients your soil needs and how much to apply. Soil testing means more efficient land use. Plan to test your soil this year.

RRV Winter Shows Fund Increasing

$37,101 More Collected in Polk County This Year

Two weeks progress reports show an additional $37,101 toward a new Red River Valley Winter Shows building, according to General Chairman William Strickler, Euclid. Added to the 1960 subscriptions of $151,664, this brings the total gifts and pledges to date to $188,765 from business, organizations and individuals in the Valley. Pennington county, under chairman Andrew Skaar, met today, Monday, in the court house.

"The additional amount represents new 1961 team reports from only two divisions, Crookston city and Polk county. Remaining gains are in gifts of campaign leaders with solicitation just well started in most of the Valley. The special Task Force under Herman Natwick, Ada, began last Thursday seeking sponsorship of various parts of the new building at $1,000 and up," said the chairman.

The Winter Shows opens this year February 20 and will have a special "Information and Hospitality" booth under direction of the campaign publicity committee.

Good Demand for Draftsmen Seen

Employment Service Tells of Recent Survey

About 1,000 additional draftsmen will be needed by Twin City firms in the next four years to handle the additional work resulting from expected expansion, according to a survey recently completed by the Minnesota department of employment security and released Saturday by Commissioner Frank T. Starkey. A considerable number of additional draftsmen will be needed in the next four years to fill vacancies arising out of promotions and retirements, the report indicated.

The 18-page illustrated booklet, "Draftsman" is the fifth in a series of occupational guides developed and published by the department to make more accurate information available to youth for vocational planning. Copies are available from any of the 33 Minnesota state employment service offices located thruout the state. Previous studies in the series included electronics technician, chemical laboratory technician, licensed practical nurses and hospital attendants, and cosmetologists (beauticians).

The "Draftsman" guide reports about 3,200 draftsmen employed in the Twin City area (Anoka, Dakota, Hennepin, and Ramsey counties). Of these, only about 40 are women. When asked if they would hire a woman draftsman, however, most employers answered in the affirmative, "If she was qualified."

Among other facts on draftsmen included in the study were the following:

Age is not a determining factor in assigning level of employment.

Many physically handicapped draftsmen are employed in the Twin Cities area. If the draftsman is capable of doing the work his physical handicap is not important. Employers said that they are more concerned with a draftsman's knowledge and ability than with his handicap. Good eyesight, however, is essential for drafting.

High school graduation is a minimum educational requirement for most beginning draftsman positions today. Courses in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry are useful. High school physics, mechanical drawing and shop also are helpful.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Ground Hog Day, being as sunny as it was, found quite a few predicting an early spring this year. I hope they're right. With Easter on the second of April, we'll need a break to bring out the bonnets.

Seed and Feed Show proved to be another successful, co-sponsored event again this year. Approximately 100 exhibitors, FFA judges and 250 interested farmers entered competition, heard informative lectures, and had coffee and donuts together Friday afternoon. Certainly this 4th annual Seed and Feed Show proved that it should be continued as a beneficial promotion of quality agriculture.

Co-sponsored by the Crop Improvement association, the extension service, the Chamber of Commerce, farm service dealers, banks and businesses, it too is tending to unite town and country on common ground. We speak entirely too often of town and country as separate interests when we should be thinking in terms of community or area promotion.

Both rural and urban dwellers are guilty of this too. It is not a one-sided philosophy. It seems to me that we are all aware of our differences but we don't often do much about reconciling them.

It is my belief that in our Chamber of Commerce organization we can help do more and more toward promoting united area thinking. Our present "Shoot the Moon" membership drive is progressing nicely to date and we looking forward to seeing more farmers on our roster and also to working together more often to build this Thief River Falls area.

The public relations committee met this morning, the Board meets Tuesday night, the Jaycees Bosses Night is Wednesday, and State Convention of the M.C.C.E. is on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Minnesota Wool Growers meet on Saturday, February 18, here.

Marshall Co. Board Opposes Transfer of Land by Selke

Formal Protest to State Conservation Dept. Is Voted by Board Tuesday

Formal protests against the transfer of 33,000 acres of Conservation Area land in Marshall county to the division of game and fish will be lodged with the Minnesota department of conservation by the Marshall county board of commissioners. George A. Selke, retiring commissioner of conservation, authorized the transfer by commissioner's order shortly before vacating his position.

The Commissioners, in session in Warren Tuesday, opposed the transfer and take the position that much of this land would be agricultural land, which when sold would provide tax revenues to the county in addition to providing a livelihood for residents.

Members of the board are making a study of a zoning program for the conservation area in the eastern part of the county in the hopes to add further to the taxable lands in the area.

Much of the lands transferred by the former commissioner during his last day in office had been previously classified as agricultural lands by the county board which sought approval to make sales of many of the properties involved.

Hospital Auxiliary Votes to Supply New Dishes for Hospital

The purchase of new dishes for the hospital was adopted as a project for the coming year by the executive board of the Northwestern hospital auxiliary. The board met Tuesday afternoon, February 7, in the staff room of the hospital with Mrs. J. J. Womack presiding.

Norman Peterson, administrator, told the board of some of the needs of the hospital, saying that the dishes in use were those used in the former St. Lukes and Mercy hospitals, and were in need of replacement. The board decided to replace these with dishes of an attractive pattern, and made plans for raising additional funds to cover the cost of the project.

Mrs. Womack reported that she and Mrs. Justus Larson had attended a meeting in Crookston called by representatives of the American Cancer Society and that the hospital auxiliary had been given the job of pre-registration for the cancer clinic to be held March 20 in Crookston, at which time 1,000 women will be given examinations for breast cancer.

An invitation from Red Lake Falls to attend its hospital auxiliary meeting on February 20 was extended to the group by Mrs. Womack. Any auxiliary members interested in going may contact her.

State Treasurer Val Bjornson Is Speaker at Lions

Says Tax Withholding with Forgiveness Is Not Feasible for 1961

Minnesota's financial situation couldn't withstand a "crash program" of income tax withholding with forgiveness, effective as of April, 1961, was the assertation of State Treasurer Val Bjornson in an address at the Lions club luncheon meeting in the Elks club Wednesday. He was introduced by Bill LaFave.

Due, said Bjornson, to action taken by the 1961 legislature to authorize internal shifting of money from one fund to another to the extent of up to $90,000,000 it was possible late last week to bring payments of state school funds up to schedule. He said it would be impossible to restore the transferred funds if withholding with forgiveness was to start in April this year.

Bjornson also commented briefly on the necessity of increasing the restriction on state bonded debt from its present archaic limit of $230,000; and the need for constitutional authority to broaden the field of investment for state trust funds to make possible higher interest earnings.

In its business session, the club heard a report by Morris Howick on the forthcoming banquet for Lincoln high school lettermen. James Giesen and Dr. W. P. Kaisler will represent the club on the arrangements committee, along with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees and Rotary club, co-sponsors.

Ormond Johnson announced that the midwinter district Lions conference will be held at Moorhead February 18 and 19, and that a local delegation will be in attendance.

Federal Aid Funds to Counties Allotted by Commr. L. Zimmerman

Allocation of an additional $2,188,106 in federal aid secondary funds to the counties was announced today by State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman, following a meeting with representatives of the County Commissioners association.

As a result of this meeting, the counties will receive two-thirds of the 1962 federal aid secondary funds allocated to Minnesota while the state will retain one-third.

On August 1, 1960, the commissioner had allocated $2,529,337 to the counties pending a final determination which was reached last week. The total allotted to the counties for 1962, therefore, reaches the figure of $4,909,000.

Pennington county is given a total 1962 FAS allotment of $36,896, from which is deducted a preliminary allocation of $16,906 and a loan payment of $3,500.70, leaving a net allotment of $16,489.30 as of February 1, 1961.

Net allotments to other counties in this area include Marshall, $39,071; Red Lake, $13,708; Polk, $54,349; Roseau, $28,705.92; Beltrami, $27,556; and Clearwater, $18,950.

Since 1949, the state highway department has turned over virtually all of the FAS funds allocated to the state for use on the counties' major highways. In view of the fact, however, that the state highway department finds itself without federal funds needed for improvements on its secondary trunk highways, Commissioner Zimmerman feels that at least one-third of this federal aid should be retained by the state highway department for such needs. This sharing of the funds, he pointed out, is substantially in accord with the results of a study of needs on the county and state federal aid secondary system.

"Unless some improvements can be provided in the state highway finances," he said, "a reduction in future county federal aid secondary allocations will be mandatory."

$297,587 Late School Aids Is Received Here

$216,195 of Total Allocated to Thief River Falls Schools

State school aid funds for Pennington county school districts in sum of $297,587.25 was distributed this week, according to C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor. Of this total $268,915.35 was the balance of a foundation aid that was due last September, and $28,671.90 was for the state's share of high school tuition aid. The payment, due last September, had been postponed because of a deficit in the state's income tax fund, and was made available at this time by emergency transfers of other state funds authorized by the 1961 legislature.

Of the foundation aid total, $216,195.00 was allocated to the Thief River Falls district; $28,782 to Goodridge, and $14,931 to St. Hilaire. The balance was distributed to common school districts ranging in amounts from $114 to $1,482.

Three high school districts participated in the tuition aid; Thief River Falls receiving $17,163.94; Goodridge $5,651.26, and Oklee $6,173.58.

Marshall Hankerson, superintendent of the Thief River Falls system, stated that these aids came just in time to enable the district to meet its obligations without borrowing. He expressed the opinion that with the distribution of anticipated tax revenues and final aid settlements the district will end the fiscal year in satisfactory financial condition.

Named Wednesday Outstanding Young Man and Boss of Year

Glenn Peterson, 29, manager of the Falls Supply company and president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce from 1958 to 1959, was announced as the Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award winner at the annual Boss-Employe banquet Wednesday evening, February 8, in the Legion clubrooms.

Making the award to Peterson as the city's outstanding young man of 1960 was Ken Onken, DSA winner for 1959. Cited for his active membership in the Zion Lutheran church, Cub Scouting, boating, Elks and in Jaycee work, Peterson is married, and has two sons and lives with his family at 812 Arnold av. N.

Honored as the Boss of the Year was Donald M. Olson, proprietor of the Coast to Coast store and president of the Chamber of Commerce during the past year. Olson is the fourth winner of the award in Thief River Falls. Others have been E. O. Peterson, Stanley Pladson and Donald L. Olson.

Special awards were made to radio station KTRF and the Thief River Falls Times for their cooperation in publicizing Jaycee activities during 1960.

Toastmaster for the banquet which attracted 120 employers, employes, Jaycees and others interested in the organization was John McGinley. Clifford Wiklund opened the program with the invocation and by leading the group in reciting the Jaycee creed. Dinner was served by the American Legion Auxiliary and music was provided by Jerry Joringdal at the organ.

McGinley opened the program following the dinner by asking for the self-introduction of those attending. John Elsbrener, Jaycee president, extended the welcome to the bosses and Dr. George Martin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave the response.

Principal speaker of the evening was Les Watson of Moorhead, state Jaycee president. Watson told the audience that "we are at war people throughout the world with an army of people, who are in the majority, who have little or no concern with the important things that are going on in the world." The Jaycees, he said, are a part of the small army of people fighting against indifference in vital matters which affect everyone.

Watson cited examples of work done by Jaycees in this battle and said that although doing what is right may sometimes make persons and groups unpopular, courageous people like the Jaycees must continue to fight.

The importance of sharing ideas between young people of every nation was stressed by the speaker, who said, "You have to sell these important and necessary things to others, here and abroad, who are not showing concern about progress."

Pennington Co. Drive for New Building for Winter Shows Starts

Pennington county's part in the $450,000 drive for a new Winter Shows building at Crookston got under way at a kick-off meeting in the court house Monday afternoon.

Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls presided as county chairman, with Stuart McLeod, member of the Winter Show board of managers assisting. Vic Hodgson from campaign headquarters was present and spoke briefly.

Area leaders attending from various parts of the county were Malcolm Stucy, Glen Tasa, Robert Parnow, Alvin Fjeld, Odin Hanson, Richard Dvorak, Woodrow Almquist and Ole B. Olson.

It is planned that this year's Winter Shows February 20-24 will be the last in the old building in downtown Crookston. Work is to begin May 1 on a new Winter Shows building north of Crookston, near the experiment station.

The new structure will put 4.6 acres under one roof, more than twice the present space, and will be available year around for meetings, demonstration and exhibitions promoting the future of farming in the Red River Valley.

Pennington county has reached half its goal of $5,000 toward the $450,000 building fund, and supporters expect it to be close to or over its quota by the February 17th report meeting.

Another Library Story Hour Feb. 11

Youngsters Invited to Hear 'The Valentine Cat'

The story to be read at Saturday's Story Hour at the public library this week is appropriately called "The Valentine Cat." The book by Clyde Bulla tells of a homeless black kitten in a far away land who is adopted by a starting artist. The change which results is remarkable and leads to a palace intrigue of amazing proportions.

Leonard Weisgard's two color illustrations make the reader feel that the little black cat with the white heart marking on its forehead is our very own pet. Weisgard says his first piece of art work was a Valentine for his teacher many years ago. He has been a commercial artist for many years with drawings in the New Yorker, Harper's Bazaar and other sophisticated adult publications. However, his first love appears to be illustrating children's books.

Clyde Bulla has produced nearly 20 children's books since the end of the war, all with widely varied backgrounds. Some are fantasy, some are westerns, some are historical, but all have been happily received by the youngsters.

Story Hour at the Library is designed for 1-3 graders. It is held at one o'clock Saturdays in the basement of the Library.

Deadline on Grain Loan Certificate Cashing Is Feb. 15

P. W. Culkins, Manager of County ASC Office, Reminds Local Farmers

February 15 is the last date for cashing certificates received under most of the 1960 grain loan programs, manager Patrick W. Culkins, Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, reminded farmers today. This does not apply to 1960 crop corn, on which loans may be obtained until the end of May.

"These certificates, which growers receive at the time they put their crop under loan, is not like a check—which may be cashed any time," the office manager explained. The certificate must be cashed within 15 days after the deadline for putting a crop under the price-support program.

"For most of the grain crops, including oats, barley, flax, rye and wheat, January 31 was the last day growers could cover their 1960 crop with either a price support loan or purchase agreement. So that means that the loan certificates must be cashed by February 15."

Each year, Culkins said, some farmers overlook the fact that they must surrender the loan certificate by a stated deadline—which for most grains is February 15. This may be done at any bank approved by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Farmers Reminded Income Taxes Are Due February 15th

1960 Tax Now Due Unless Estimated Tax Return Was Filed in January

Farmers who did not file an estimated federal income tax return for the year 1960 have until February 15 to file their final return, George O. Lethert, director of internal revenue for the St. Paul district, said today.

He said farmers who filed an estimated return by January 15 and paid the tax due, have until April 17 to file a final income tax return and pay any balance of tax due. Otherwise, the law requires that they file their final income tax return and pay the full amount of their tax by February 15.

Lethert said this option is available to farmers only. The tax law defines a farmer as one who derives two-thirds or more of his gross income from farming.

He advised farmers that if they filed federal income tax returns last year, the necessary forms for 1960 have been mailed to them. For those who did not file, or who, for some reason, did not receive forms in the mail, blank forms may be obtained from the nearest internal revenue office or from local post offices or banks.

Lethert reminded that everyone under age 65 who had a gross income (not net) of $600 or more during the past year must file a federal income tax return, whether or not any tax is owed.

He said taxpayers 65 or over before January 1, 1961 are not required to file unless their gross income was $1,200 or more for 1960.

Farm Problems Topic of Minneapolis Forum

One of the most important questions facing American farmers is whether the Common Market organized by six European nations is a threat to U.S. agricultural exports which will be discussed at the 15th annual Minneapolis Farm Forum March 6-7, at the Pick-Nicollet Hotel.

Leaders of the discussions will be John Wilson, vice president, Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, and Winfried Hauschild of the directorate general for competition and a member of the commission of the European Economic Community (Common Market).

Wilson, an economist for a special study on the subject, will speak at the opening session of the forum on "The European Common Markets—A Threat to Our Exports?" Hauschild will participate in the open forum discussions in the afternoon.

Goodrich Lowry, president, Northwest Bancorporation, chairman, said the 1961 Forum program covers several other important questions confronting the farmer.

Additional subjects and speakers include: "Can We Export Our Surplus?" Elmer W. Learn, associate professor of agricultural economics, University of Minnesota. "Agriculture's Power to Produce," O. V. Wells, administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D. C. "Stringent Controls on Production", G. E. Brandow, professor of agricultural economics, Pennsylvania State University. "Alternatives to Stringent Controls", Dale Hathaway, professor of agricultural economics, Michigan State University. "Food for Peace", George McGovern, former South Dakota congressman, director of the government's "Food for Peace" program, will speak at the Tuesday luncheon.

The theme of the opening day session will be "Dollars for Agriculture", with the second day theme "Profits in Farming."

The Farm Forum is sponsored by the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce to give farmers, labor representatives and businessmen a chance to discuss agricultural problems with top experts. All sessions of the Forum which is non-partisan with no resolutions adopted, are open to the public.

Ruth Torgerson Gets Recognition for Bible Study

Ruth Torgerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Torgerson, rt. 2, Thief River Falls, has completed the memorization of 300 selected Bible verses, according to the Rural Bible Crusade National office in Wheaton, Illinois.

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL

Note: This week's column is being guest written in the absence of Director Kimball whose home was destroyed by fire last week.

Close on the heels of our recent announcement that an examination for the position of game warden is scheduled for next month has come many letters and phone calls from hopeful aspirants. To the many readers of this column who may be interested in becoming a warden, I should point out that few positions are more difficult to attain these days.

The last examination was offered three years ago, and 1,100 men were admitted to the written civil service test. Many more, of course, applied for the exam but were not qualified for one reason or another. Of the 1,100 writing the test, only 100 passed. But this is only the beginning, for after this comes a rigid physical examination and interviews by key department personnel. Following all this comes six months of rigorus training and probation. This year's crop of new wardens will also face some additional hard work.

A two-week in-service training school is being established which all probationary wardens must attend. Taught by department specialists and other agency personnel, the school will cover a wide range of conservation activities. For some it will be a return to the classroom after some years absence. Lectures, recitation, demonstrations, tests, homework—these will make up the routine of the new warden at the school. Completion of the school brings field work and instruction under the competent guidance of a warden supervisor. During these months he will learn conservation law enforcement from A to Z, make game and fish surveys, check wildlife damage complaints, investigate water pollution, check hunters, trappers and fishermen, attend court trials, attend sportsmen's club meetings, conduct youth firearm safety training, and much, much more.

Minnesota's game wardens are becoming the busiest, best informed, and most efficient law enforcement agents in the state. And if all this testing and training seem unduly excessive, it is only because we seek to have only the very best qualified men for these important conservation jobs. While becoming a game warden is certainly not an easy job, it won't discourage those who have a burning desire to join the ranks of our guardians of the wild.

The duties, responsibilities, authority and prestige of the Minnesota wardens are increasing year after year. With many veteran wardens retiring after 20 and 30 years of valuable experience, filling their shoes is not a task to be taken lightly. It can be done only with the most capable young men we can hire.

STEERING money to Missions

What Is Steer, Inc.?

STEER, Inc., is a non-profit, interdenominational missionary service agency dedicated to the ministry of supplying funds for a number of established, evangelical, foreign mission societies, through a cooperative stewardship cattle program.

Money for the purchase of missionary cattle is donated by businessmen, church groups and other interested individuals. STEER, Inc., then contacts farmers who are willing to contribute feed and care to these animals until marketed. For every sale made the original cost of animal is deducted and re-invested in another unit, the gain is then forwarded to the designated society.

STEER, INC. was started on a small scale four years ago, with headquarters in Park River, N. Dak. At present it has spread its operations, to twenty states with over 450 units in circulation. In December, 1960 over $2,000.00 was sent to Missions.

Farmers are needed to take missionary stock. Any farmer in this area interested in raising a steer or boarding a cow for missions, or any boy wanting a 4-H project for missions should write STEER, Inc., Box 95, Park River or call MU 1-4651, T.R.F. Farmers have a choice of a number of good societies — a list will be supplied upon request.

Prowlers Down Warroad Six 3-1

Trailing by a 1 to 0 score entering the third period, coach Gene Sack's hockey Prowlers erupted for three goals to defeat the highly-ranked Warroad Warriors, 3 to 1, in a Region Eight conference game played on the Arena rink Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule on Saturday night when they journey to Crookston for a game against coach Bill Sullivan's Cathedral Blue Wave.

In Tuesday night's well-played and swiftly-skated game, coach Gordon Genz' Warroad club gained a 1 to 0 lead when, with but seventeen seconds to play in the second period, George Reinhart scored on a high, hard shot from the blue-line, hitting the upper left-hand corner of the north net.

The Prowlers, who had been held scoreless throughout the first two periods of play although holding a definite edge in the play, finally broke through the Warroad defenses early in the third period. Wayne Loeffler, a freshman making his first start as a regular, rammed in a rebound shot from just off to the right of the goal-crease to even the game at 1:35 mark.

At the 6:48 mark, Jack Goulet, getting a pass from Keith Poppenhagen, whipped a thirty-foot shot past goalie Dennis Foster to give the Prowlers their go-ahead tally. And late in the period, at the 10:57 period, with the Prowlers skating shorthanded, having Tom Morben in the penalty box, Larry Poole hustled in to the Warroad zone, deftly picked the puck off a Warroad player's stick, and scored on a sharply-angled shot from ten feet off to the left of the net, giving the locals an "insurance" goal and the game, 3 to 1.

Newfolden Quint Wins Three Games During Past Week

Defeat Badger 42 to 27, Roseau 64-54, and the Warroad Warriors 48-27

The Newfolden Nordics successfully concluded the busiest week of their entire basketball schedule as they won three conference games. They defeated Badger, 42 to 27 and Roseau, 64 to 54 in games played on the home floor on Tuesday and Friday. On Saturday they traveled to Warroad and downed the Warriors, 48 to 27. This gives the Nordics a season's record of 12 victories against two defeats and an East Sub-district 32 record of 11 wins and one loss with one game remaining against Greenbush on Tuesday. This record should assure them of no lower than second place in the conference standings.

Against the Badger squad, both teams started slowly and had a hard time finding the range of the baskets as the first quarter ended, 6 to 4 in favor of the Nordics. In the second quarter, the Nordics outscored Badger 13 to 2 to take a 19 to 6 half time lead. The Nordics lengthened this lead to 33 to 16 by the third period stop and coasted the rest of the way. David Haug was high point man with 11 points followed by Richard Inman with 10. Johnson and Black shared scoring honors for Badger with eight points apiece.

The Nordics played one of their best first halves of the season against the Roseau Rams as they jumped off to a 15 to 10 first quarter lead and held this lead at 31 to 26 at half time. They added a couple more points to the lead in the third quarter to make it 48 to 41, and stretched the margin to as much as 14 points in the fourth quarter before winning 64 to 54. High point men for the evening were the two busy Rams guards, Lundemo and Holland who scored 28 and 20 points respectively. Dave Haug led the Nordics with 17 points while Howie Davis was also in double figures with 14.

The Nordics jumped to an 11 to 7 lead on the Warriors in the Saturday night game but could only score two points during the entire second quarter to give up the lead at half time to the Warriors, 15 to 13. The third period found the Nordics picking up again and regaining the lead at the third period stop, 29 to 26 and the Nordics inundated the Warriors in the last quarter by outscoring them 19 to 1 to gain their convincing victory, 43 to 27. Dave Haug led all scorers with 14 points on five field goals and four free throws. No other players on either team were in double figures.

The February 10th game with Mentor on the home floor has been rescheduled for Tuesday, February 21, due to an error in the schedule on the part of Mentor. There will be no game for the Nordics on the 10th.

Baking Size

After six weeks of sluggish action, the ice fishing on Lake of the Woods, particularly in the Manitoba waters, increased in tempo this week. And the walleyes that have been reported are mostly of baking size, requiring a large roaster and a larger oven.

On Saturday, Cliff Overum, Am Wysoski, and Les and Paul DeBryn had a limit catch of walleyes off Gould Point. And on Sunday, Harlan Huseth and Earl Gjernes continued to haul in the big walleyes, with Earl getting one that weighed more than eight pounds. A number of the walleyes that have been taken the past ten days have been of a size that warranted certification for a Manitoba Master Angler award. Cliff Overum maintains that he is getting a bit tired of being asked to witness these award catches by his friends, and he is hoping to catch a trophy-sized walleye one of these days.

There has been a complaint made and a protest filed by young Jimmy Huseth on the catches that were made the past weekend. It seems that Jimmy's dad, Harlan, and Earl Gjernes made their catches while fishing out of Jimmy's hole!

The fishing, in the Manitoba waters, will continue until March 31st. And the Minnesota anglers intending to fish up there must have a Manitoba non-resident winter fishing license, the fee for which is $2.50. And there are some live-minnow regulations that should be noted as to Manitoba waters.

Hockey Notes

Just a reminder that the North Dakota freshman hockey squad, with Don (Boom Boom) Ross in the lineup, will be here this evening, meeting the Thieves in a game on the Arena ice. And on Sunday afternoon, also on the Arena rink, the Thieves will meet the Winnipeg Whirlaways in an exhibition tilt. This team will replace the Emerson Canadians, who were originally slated for Sunday's date. The senior hockey Thieves hope for, and deserve, your patronage.

There was considerable "kid" hockey activity at the Arena on Sunday. Coach Morris Efteland's VFW Midgets dropped a league game, 2 to 1, to coach Jimmy Williams' East Grand Forks Midgets. And the local Eagles Bantams, who are unbeaten to date, defeated the East Grand Forks Bantams, 4 to 1. The Bantams will play the Red Lake Falls Bantams in a preliminary game here on Sunday afternoon, with the face-off slated for 1 p.m.

Coach George Schlieff's Prowler 'B' squad has been compiling a creditable record this season, and the boys will be concluding their schedule on Saturday night, against the Blue Wave 'B' squad. On Monday evening, on the Arena rink, the Prowler 'B's defeated the Blue Wave, 3 to 1; and on Tuesday night, by a 2 to 1 score, the locals defeated the Warroad 'B' team.

That Height Advantage

In our research into the trends in basketball, and the ever-increasing stress being placed on the "big" man, we came across some interesting comments that perhaps warrant quoting:

"Height is vital on a basketball team not so much for the offense—though a tall man obviously has an easier time scoring than a short one—as for the defense. In a goal-to-goal game (which is what such games as football, hockey, soccer, and basketball are called in the sports world), victory depends on having possession of the ball a major part of the game; without the ball, the most unerring marksman cannot score. A crucial part of a basketball game is the struggle for the ball after a shot has been missed, and in that struggle height is the vital element."

An instance to prove this point was the play of the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association. The Celtics, with famed Bob Cousey as their playmaking star, had an awesome offense, but it was not until the club secured the services of six-foot ten-inch Bill Russell, that the Celtics were able to win championships. Russell doesn't score too heavily, he just sees to it that Cousey gets the ball.

Prowler Game Time

Prowler fans intending to make the drive to Moorhead for the Prowlers vs. Elbow Lake basketball game on Saturday should take note that the game, which will be played in the Moorhead State college fieldhouse, is scheduled for 6:00 P.M.

Favorable Action on Safety Bills Is Seen by Comm. Zimmerman

"We in the highway department are extremely grateful for the response given the department's recommendations for legislation covering highway safety," Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman said today. "I have noted that the members of both the House and Senate have started almost immediately to consider those problems affecting the safe movement of traffic on our highways."

The commissioner said the department's recommendations had been translated into bills which were introduced much earlier than at any previous session. Among these recommendations are a periodic inspection of motor vehicles, a reasonable speed law, an examination for all drivers upon renewal of the drivers license, and an increase in the highway patrol.

Besides early drafting, the committees considering the bills have been hearing testimony with little delay, and some bills have already been passed out of committee with recommendations for passage.

"This rapid action by the legislature indicates there is real concern for the traffic accident problem and strong consideration is being given to the department's recommendations; which are proposed as additional ammunition in our constant battle against traffic accidents.

Zimmerman noted there had been an increase in traffic accidents of almost 4,000 in 1960 over 1959, resulting in the death of 721 persons, 57 more than in the death of 721 persons, 57 more than in the previous year.

"We will continue to carry on a strong safety education program both within the department and in support of the Minnesota Safety Council," Zimmerman said. "We shall continue to build wide safe roads according to the most modern engineering standards. However, the legislation we have proposed will enable all enforcement officers to cope with the deliberate violator, will make sure that all our drivers are capable and drive safely, and result in safer traveling for everyone."

Managing Water Resources Topic at Winter Shows

Authorities to Speak on the Future Outlook in Crookston Feb. 24

A number of the top experts on water management in the country have met the past two years in the Red River Valley at Winter Shows time to discuss the various facets and forces concerning water resources. The board of manager of the Red River Valley Winter Shows hope to build an "informed concern" as to the importance of the better management of water for the entire Red River Valley watershed as we look ahead to the next half century.

Another meeting on water resources is scheduled this year at the Winter Shows in Crookston on Friday, February 24. This will be held at the Northwest School and Station, Crookston, in the livestock pavilion beginning with registration at 9:30 a.m. A "water resource report" will be presented by Erling Welberg, watershed conservationist, state conservation committee, St. Paul. A report on projected basic research concerning water will be presented by Ordean Bierman, agricultural engineer, who has recently been stationed in the Red River Valley to work on water problems for the Agricultural Research Service at the federal level.

A panel discussion on the topic "First Things First" with Olaf C. Soine, as leader, will close the program. The program session will be summarized by Superintendent B. E. Youngquist of the Northwest Experiment Station.

A special invitation is being extended by all county commissioners, directors of soil conservation districts, members of city and village councils, mayors of municipalities, town boards, and to all other persons who are interested in better water management.

At Last—Some Secrecy

In the excitement of successfully rocketing Chimpanzee Ham into outer space and back to earth again, not much attention has been given to the successful launching of Samos II into orbit as a "spy" satellite. It is noteworthy that the Air Force had little to say about this success, and indicated that it is not going to say much more. "We ain't talkin'" was the sum and substance of a brief report that announced the height and frequency of the orbit.

We like that, mainly because we think the officials responsible for our efforts in this field have been too talkative.

This new satellite presumably is well equipped to inform us on what is going on in the world. It is well equipped with cameras but the Air Force has refused to comment on whether or not pictures are being radioed to earth.

Finally, it seems, our officials have come to the conclusion that we should not reveal to the Russians everything that we are doing—or hope to do. That is a long step forward in the direction of common sense.

More of the Same

President Kennedy has made two speeches in which he has pleaded with us to be prepared and willing to do things for our country rather than ask the country to do things for us. We agree with him that it is going to be necessary for the American people to tighten their belts a little if we are to avert economic disaster. Some of the sacrifices we will have to make may be very unpleasant. We recognize this as inevitable, and we are prepared and willing to go along with any reasonable program of austerity he may recommend.

But so far the good doctor has not recommended any sacrifices. So far all he has told us is his ideas of some more things the country should do for us. The list is not impressive, and does not appeal to us as a solution for some of the things that are wrong with our economy. We do not believe, for instance, that raising wages across the board is going to create more employment.

If all of us, automatically, were given a ten per cent pay increase, we would none of us be better off than we now are. As a matter of fact, we would be worse off, because the dollars we had saved would have much less buying power.

Maybe the prescriptions for the sacrifices we will have to make will come later. We hope it will not be too much later because we have already waited too long. But up to this time the only recommendations have been for more of the same poison that has made us sick.

Inventories Down

We are accustomed to simple market fluctuations, governed by the law of supply and demand. The three-year cycle in the price of eggs does not excite us. It probably is true that a few shrewd traders take advantage of these cycles, but they do not create them.

We have cycles of good business and cycles of poor business. There are periods of prosperity and periods of depression. There are various causes for these ups and downs. All of them are understandable in the retrospect. Most of them probably are natural.

Politicians would put an end to the depressions, but the peaks are popular and run-of-the-mill politicians favor them. Stability, however, can be maintained only as we level off the peaks, and move forward to better conditions by a gradual climb.

Business Week points to one of the natural causes of the present recession, a sharp decline in business inventories. A nationwide survey revealed a big build-up of inventories in the last quarter of 1959 and the first quarter of 1960, in anticipation of "the soaring 'sixties". The expected boom did not get off the ground and thruout the last three quarters of 1960 inventories were drastically reduced.

On the prospect for the year that is ahead of us Business Week comments hopefully:

> "The drop in inventories is nearing its end. And that drop has been the most important cause of the current business recession. Nationwide Business Week reporters find that most companies in most industries have now pulled their inventory down about as far as they want to. In a few cases, they may have even overdone it.
>
> "The basis for this change showed up clearly, for the first time, in the fourth quarter of 1960. During that quarter, business chopped its inventories at an annual rate of $4 billion. But the stage was set late last spring, when business woke up to the fact that it had badly overbuilt its inventories in the wave of "Soaring Sixties" optimism that followed settlement of the great steel strike.
>
> "Business has been having a hard time getting its stocks down. First, a 'hangover' of the false optimism of the first half of the year delayed realistic adjustment. Then, sales slackened more than companies had anticipated. Inventories of finished goods were involuntarily built higher as buyers forced suppliers to hold inventories for them.
>
> "But in 1960's last quarter, even involuntary inventory-building ended. The $4-billion annual-rate drop was greater than most economists had been expecting. As had happened in the fourth quarter of 1957, this sharp inventory dip spelled finis to the argument about whether we were in a recession. We were—and are."

And commenting on the big question as to where inventories will go from here, Business Week concludes that "All the odds are strong that the direction taken in the last half of the year by both inventories and sales will be up."

Time to Hold the Line

This year is going to be a year of much bargaining between management and labor, many contracts involving large labor groups being up for negotiation. At least 120 agreements that involve 5,000 or more workers each, expire during the year, and contracts covering wages and working conditions for more than five million workers must be settled.

President Kennedy has committed himself to a hold-the-line policy in maintaining the buying power of the dollar. He has pledged himself to fight inflation. If he makes a serious effort to keep these promises then he will have to use whatever influence he might have in opposing wage boosts that would have to be passed along to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

We are satisfied that the rank-and file of labor does not want more inflation. The present low-value dollar is cheating many workers in their retirement. Those workers who are approaching retirement are becoming increasingly aware of this fact.

This would be a good time to proclaim a national moratorium on all across-the-board wage or salary increases that would result in higher prices or higher taxes. Some adjustments no doubt can be justified. Greater effort should be rewarded. Such rewards, however, do not add to production costs.

Now, certainly, is the time to hold the line. To whatever extent curbs on wage and price increases are necessary to halt inflation, they are in the best interests of the masses of the people.

The magic of modern lighting on the farm! A farm wife couldn't quite get accustomed to her husband's new barn with all the push buttons and switches. When she merely wanted to light the barn one night, before she found the right switch she had unloaded a ton of silage, cleaned the barn, fed 150 steers and bewildered an old sow by lighting the heat lights!—Centerville (S.D.) Journal.

Not the Farmer's Fault

(Kansas City Star)

The cost of living reached a new peak in November. Statistically food prices get a major part of the blame. Food comes from the farm—so it is easy to conclude that the high cost of living results from high farm prices. The conclusion is in error. Also it illustrates the farmer's public relations problem.

It is tough to be accused of causing living costs to rise when the opposite is true. The fact is, if prices at the farm had not held at a relatively low level over the last 10 years, the cost of living would be much higher.

The index figures used by the government are the evidence. For November, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a rise in the consumer price index from 127.3 to 127.4. In the index, 100 represents average prices for the 1947-49 period.

Many items in addition to food are covered by the index, but it was food that received prominent mention in the latest report. In the 1947-49 period (100 on the cost of living index), farm prices were at 100 per cent of parity or better. Currently they stand at about 81 per cent of parity.

The index, which represents all prices, has risen more than 27 points since the 1947-49 period. But the index on farm prices—at the farm—has dropped almost the same amount. It is plain that the increase in the cost of living cannot be blamed on the prices farmers receive.

Scholarships for Africans

(New York Times)

The need of the emerging nations of Africa for college and university-trained leaders has been made tragically evident by recent events in the Congo and elsewhere. The urgency of the need makes especially significant and welcome a rapidly burgeoning program of American colleges and universities to do their part in meeting it.

In less than two years organizational arrangements have been made by which some 200 students from at least six major African countries will be able to take regular four-year college courses in this country, beginning next fall, at no expense to themselves. How far this movement can go is suggested by the fact that 85 colleges and universities in 29 states and the District of Columbia have already agreed to cooperate in the program. The plan is an extension of one which has brought 24 Negro students to American institutions this year.

The present "African Scholarship Program of American Universities" is a remarkable example of wide cooperation and shrewd management, both in this country and in Africa. It does great credit to those who have developed it, especially its coordinator, David D. Henry of Harvard University.

The financing is striking evidence of what can be done by public and private agencies working together in a good—and truly international—cause. It is hoped that the travel expenses of the students will be met by their own Governments. Their tuition and fees will be covered by the institutions in which they study, their living expenses by the International Cooperation Administration through a $1.5 million grant and the administrative expenses of the program by a $100,000 contribution from the Carnegie Corporation.

It is hard to conceive of investments that could pay higher dividends than these—both in immediate goodwill and in the long-run avoidance of the hazards in Africa's future.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from

Governor
Elmer L. Andersen

A few hours after I delivered the budget message to a joint session of the legislature, I saw the various newspaper headlines reporting it. It read "Andersen submits record budget". I could not help but think how tiresome this must be to many people, continued news of "record high" in government spending.

Why is it necessary? Isn't it possible to cut out unnecessary functions and reduce government spending when people would so much like to have it that way?

Here are a few highlights on what makes our state budget continue to go up: The last legislature appropriated $18 million less than necessary to pay local school districts the formula aid promised. This error in computation meant that my budget had to be $18 million higher than the last one, on that one item, to simply provide for the same aid as before. However, it is estimated there will be 60 thousand more pupil units in school in the next biennium than in this biennium. A grade school pupil is counted as one unit and a high school pupil as a unit and a half in figuring state aid. An additional 60,000 pupil units means a total additional $18 million increase in state aids, about 44 per cent of which the state pays.

These two items are inescapable and then you add even a little to governmental higher costs for each pupil and you have an education budget for the next biennium that is many millions higher than that of this biennium.

Another highlight: There has not been a revision of state employe pay scales for four years. The Civil Service department recently completed a careful study of hundreds of private companies and thousands of employes in private companies to compare those rates of pay with comparable positions in the state service. The feeling is that pay rates in state service should not be higher than in private employment but should be equal. In fact, if it isn't equal the state will find it hard to get satisfactory workers.

As a result of this study the Civil Service Board recommended a number of pay scale changes. No one with whom I have visited feels that the increases suggested are extravagant, most people feel they are a minimum and conservative adjustment to keep state employes somewhere near even with private employes. I concluded these changes in the budget I submitted and this called for an increased expenditure of $9,600,000. The startling thing about state government is that individual adjustments may be small but when totaled for all of the people involved it gets to be a large amount of money.

Just for one other example: In most of our institutions the food allowance for patients and inmates is figured at 63c per day. This would seem particularly low to any housewife, I am sure. However, it is not as bad as it seems because the state raises a great deal of food, receives substantial amounts of surplus commodities, and the food it buys is in large quantities, at much lower prices than the housewife pays at a retail store. Nevertheless, it is a pretty modest amount on which to feed any person for a day. After careful study the department felt it necessary to increase the budget 2c per day. I suppose very few people would argue with spending 2c a day more for food per patient in our mental hospitals. Yet, this modest increase is computed for all of the patients in our mental hospitals and the population of other institutions, it becomes a very sizeable amount of money.

I could go on listing the kind of decisions that a governor has to make in recommending a budget to the legislature. As I review these figures and try to make fair decisions, I try to put myself in your position. I try to imagine you and me having a cup of coffee together and discussing each particular problem and then asking you, "what do you think we ought to do? Would you be willing to pay your share of this increase?" In this way, I try to sense what I believe fair minded responsible people want the decision to be and this is what becomes my decision.

When the budget message is presented it means that for almost everything requested the governor has found it necessary to reduce what the department or agency felt they needed to have. They naturally feel somewhat disappointed in not having a recommendation for all they feel they need, on the other hand the fact that there has been some increase recommended by the governor means that a "new record high" budget is submitted to the legislature and when people read about it they wonder, "Why can't we keep expenses down?" To be reasonable, to be fair, to meet the needs that must be met, these are among the responsibilities of a governor. Nowhere do they press harder than in meeting the responsibilities of budget mechanics.

If you would like a copy of the budget message please request one. If you would like to know why we did what we did on some particular item of service, write in and I will try to give you the answer. There were places where we found obsolete services that we eliminated but the net result was an increase and we hope through this explanation you understand some of the reasons why.

Postoffice Dept. to Combat Obscenity

An important new policy statement on the Postoffice Department's program in the field of law enforcement against mail obscenity—emphasizing enforcement without fanfare—has been issued by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

The statement, which applies to the whole anti-obscenity program, was issued specifically in connection with the sentencing on January 27, 1961, in Federal Court in Washington, D.C., of Herman L. Womack of Washington and Alfred J. Heinecke of Lakewood, N. J., on charges of conspiring to use the mails in the transmittal of obscene material.

Here is the text of Mr. Day's statement:

"We in the Postoffice Department are gratified at the sentences given to these serious offenders who have been convicted of using the mails to transmit smut material.

"We have underway plans for the toughest crack-down ever conducted for such violators of the laws against mailing pornographic material. Hereafter our approach will be that used by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other highly successful law enforcement agencies, in that our drive will be conducted without fanfare. We will concentrate our available manpower and funds on apprehending violators.

"Needless to say, we seek the assistance of the public in general in reporting receipt of illegally mailed material. We are confident that the general activity and that other law enforcement agencies throughout the country will cooperate with us in bringing to our attention cases that require investigation or action. We will focus on the most urgent situations and will refuse to be diverted by fringe cases.

"The inspection service of the Postoffice Department is the oldest and without doubt one of the finest law enforcement agencies in the United States, and we count on them to hit hard in getting this job done."

Only Half of Young Pastors Covered by Social Security

Young Clergymen Urged to Consider Benefits of Sharing in Program

The 1954 Social Security amendments first extended social security coverage to clergymen on an individual voluntary basis. Since that time the records of the Social Security Administration indicate that about 140,000 clergymen have elected social security coverage.

The statistics reveal a rather alarming characteristic about those electing such coverage. Although 85 per cent of the clergymen over age 65 have elected such coverage, only 47 per cent of the clergymen under age 30 have elected such coverage.

"The 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act further extend the filing deadline to elect coverage until the due date of the 1961 tax return," said Walter Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office. "The younger clergyman should carefully consider this "second chance" because of the advantages to him of social security coverage for family benefits in case of his death, disability benefits in case of accident or disease, as well as the retirement benefits in old age. He should also be interested in carrying his proportionate share of the cost of social security benefits for his group.

Shelterbelts Are Urged in Marshall

County ASC Provides Plan for Cost-sharing

Chairman Edward A. Johnson of the Marshall county ASC committee announced today that requests for ACP cost-sharing for planting windbreaks and field shelterbelts are still being accepted by the county ASC office.

John stated, "Farmers have an unusual opportunity this year to plant windbreaks or shelterbelts because ample supplies of good quality trees are available from the state of Minnesota nurseries at a nominal price."

Johnson said that he had been advised by the state nursery that almost half a million trees and shrubs of suitable species for this type of planting are still available for spring planting.

Ponderosa pine, black walnut, soft maple, American elm, cottonwood, hackberry, and cherry, box elder, caragana, red cedar, plum and willows are still available. Farmers who wish to place orders for any of these trees may do so at the Marshall county ASC office located at Warren.

Cleanup Costs after Litterbugs Declines

Although labor and equipment costs and vehicular traffic are up, the price of litterbugs is definitely going down, the Minnesota Highway department report for last year indicates.

Compared with the years 1958-59, the year 1960 shows an appreciable gain over the litter problem with only 6,822 truck loads at a total cost of $178,096, the lowest figure to date.

"With labor costs for highway maintenance men at $2.20 per hour as compared with $1.90 during 1958-59 and with highway travel on the increase, it is very heartening," said Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman, "to see unmistakable signs that the number of defilers of our highways is declining."

"Minnesota's highway maintenance workers have labored to keep Minnesota beautiful," he said, "With cooperation from the public, their work is becoming easier and saving our state money."

Zimmerman pointed out that 1960 was the best year, litterwise, of he past five years. Litter costs reached a peak in 1958 when there were 10,084 truck loads of trash scattered along our highways at a cost of $278,471. In 1959 there was a noticeable drop in the number of truck loads and costs—9,663 loads costing $250,448. The lowest point prior to 1960 was in 1957 when costs and traffic were proportionately lower. In that year there were 8,375 truck loads at a cost of $221,460.

"If we can keep this kind of record," Zimmerman concluded, "we will have no trouble in maintaining our reputation for being one of the healthiest and most beautiful states in the nation. Furthermore, the highway department would prefer to spend the amounts now necessary for removing litter on providing more and better highways for he people of Minnesota and their tourist guests from all over the world."

School Patrols to Get Recognition

Patrol Week Observance Set for February 12-19

The Minnesota school safety patrol will celebrate its 40th anniversary during the observance of "School Safety Patrol Week" which was set today by Governor Elmer L. Andersen for the week of February 12 thru 19.

Community groups, especially those who sponsor safety patrols, were urged by Governor Andersen to arrange special programs and activities to help "give recognition to the more than 30,000 boys and girls who diligently give of their time to protect others at school crossings."

"For 40 years, Minnesota students have been going to and from schools under the protection of school safety patrols, an effective shield against traffic hazards," Governor Andersen said. "During that time, there has never been a traffic death at a school safety patrolled crossing, and there is no doubt that patrols have saved many youngsters from injury or death in the routine performance of their duties."

NEW NEIGHBOR

When Betty Marlowe moved into our neighborhood we invited her to join the garden club and the baby sitters' club and the civic association, but it never occurred to any of us to ask her if she'd like to go to church.

Then, one Saturday, she phoned me. "My husband is often out of town on Sundays and I don't have the car when he's away," she explained. "Would you and Bill mind if I went to church with you?"

Mind! We were delighted—but I was also a little ashamed. And I wondered how many others there were in our neighborhood who would like to go to our church, if they were given the encouragement of an invitation.

From now on, I'm not waiting to be asked. I'm asking first!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Three public and two private power companies are planning construction of five generating plants at a cost of 150 million dollars in North Dakota, it was announced in Fargo, N. D., late last week.

The program, to cover 16 years, would triple the state's present 500,000 kilowatt peak capacity. Each of the new plants would be beared to a 200,000-kilowatt output.

Joining in the venture are Northern States Power Co., Minnkota Electric Cooperative of Grand Forks, Otter Tail Power Co., Dakota Electric Cooperative of Bismarck and Central Power Electric Cooperative of Minot.

The first plant is expected to be completed by the fall of 1966. The second will be ready two or three years later. All five will be operation by 1977, according to planning estimates.

The first two plants probably will be located in west central North Dakota along the Missouri River. The affected co-ops already hold options on a site three miles south of Stanton.

Officials said the other three might be built on the same site, although other locations are being considered.

Andrew Freeman, president of Minn-Kota, and Albert Hartl, vice president of Otter Tail, said area power needs are mounting rapidly.

Hartl said Otter Tail has additional plans to build a 60,000 to 100,000 kilowatt generating plant in North Dakota or western Minnesota by 1964.

Large sources of energy are needed to bring new industry into North Dakota, Freeman said.

"We can become another Bonneville, Tennessee Valley authority or Niagara in North Dakota because of our lignite," he said.

The five concerns have found a source of 200 million tons of lignite, a type of coal, and "others have located another 100 million tons near there," Freeman said.

Andersen Tax Program Goes to House Soon

Senate Promises to Act Shortly on Tax Withholding

Tax bill advances were scored in the state legislature last week against a background of partisan oratorical shots exchanged by the legislative war boards.

House Liberal leaders opened the week complaining about Gov. Andersen's refusal to produce his revenue-raising proposals in bill form, even offered to introduce them for him if he'd dot it.

He declined, "with thanks," saying that would be an intrusion of legislative prerogative.

Conservatives in both houses and senate rose to Andersen's defense. It seemed good, they said, not to "have someone trying to hammer things down your throat," in the words of Rep. Lloyd Duxbury, house conservative chief.

Sen. John M. Zwach, senate Conservative boss, added that Andersen "is above brow-beating the legislature into rubber-stamping his program."

House tax committee Chairman D. D. Wozniak announced his group will begin review this week of Andersen's proposals for 3 per cent excise levies on new cars and light and telephone bills, for general revenue fund use.

Sen. Donald O. Wright, senate tax committee chairman, promised his team will handle the house-passed income tax withholding plans swiftly, voting them up or down before considering any other bills.

Andersen also gave legislators his tax reform thought to mull over. These including junking personal property taxes on manufacturers and farmers livestock inventories to be replaced by a 4 per cent levy on heating gas and fuel oil; one per cent on telephone and light bills; a half-cent more per pack on cigarets and a half-cent per bottle on soft drinks.

He figured they'd produce the $18,600,000 the personal property tax changes would drain from the state and local governments and improve the tax climate for business and industry.

The senate finance committee approved the house-passed bill for a 1¼-million dollar emergency work relief program in northeastern Minnesota.

The house passed and sent to the senate a bill to permit suspension or revocation of the driver's license of a motorist convicted of topping any posted speed limit by 15 m.p.h. or more.

Approved by committee and sent to the house floor was a proposal to require drivers' training courses for all drivers' license applicants 18 years and younger.

The senate received a bill to abolish the seven-member state board of education and make the commissioner of education an appointee of the governor.

Bills to increase state aid to the junior colleges continued under committee study, as did the bill for basic aid to the primary and secondary schools.

Jail Escapee and Girl Friend Pass Worthless Checks

An escapee from the Williston, N. D., jail and his girl friend from Fargo left a trail of worthless checks in Pennington and Red Lake counties week before last but a half-brother of the girl has made restitution for most of the checks, Sheriff Charles Richards said today.

Most of the checks were passed in Red Lake county after the pair had deposited a small amount in a Thief River Falls bank and had obtained printed checks. Two were cashed in the Hartz store in Goodridge and one at a St. Hilaire grocery store.

The Red Owl supermarket here also took checks from them but most merchants were forewarned by Chief Elton Cummings and did not cash checks for the pair. The local store which took the checks was reimbursed.

Apparently the plot was hatched by Lyle Thorpe, the escapee, who is believed to be from Fargo. The girl was Eleanor Norheim, 22. Her half-brother, Edgar Hanson, also from Fargo and who made restitution for the checks, either did not know what was afoot at the time, or else was trying to protect his sister's best interests. In any case, most of the checks have been paid by Hanson, Richards said, although Hanson had no part in passing the checks.

Meanwhile, Thorpe and the girl have reportedly gone to Kansas. It is believed a "wanted" bulletin will be issued on Thorpe, who not only is wanted by Williston police but has reportedly had a previous arrest for carrying a concealed weapon, according to Richards.

Study Conservation Reserve Contracts, County ASC Advises

Farmers who have conservation reserve contracts covering part of their cropland should review their contracts before completing their 1961 cropping plans, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. A review of the contract is recommended as a means of being sure of the acreage of permitted crops that may be grown and harvested.

Each conservation reserve contract includes a limitation of the number of acres on the farm that can be used for the growing and harvesting of crops. That acreage is called the permitted acreage of Soil Bank base crops. All the grains, oilseeds, and row crops are classified as soil bank base crops.

The permitted acreage of these crops is important because exceeding that acreage may result in violation of the contract and a reduction of the annual payment or possible loss of the entire payment.

In addition, Knutson reminded farmers that conservation reserve contracts provide that cropland under contract is not to be grazed, but for hay, or a crop harvested from it.

There are 94,316 acres of cropland on 649 farms under reserve contracts in Pennington county.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

So many vivid "book memories" came flooding back to me as I studied the current display in the two showcases at the Library. Good books are not easily forgotten and remembrances of Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," Alan Burgess' "The Small Woman" and Emily Hahn's "China to Me," all helped me to interpret the lovely art objects that saw arranged there.

The display, set up Mrs. Joseph Holter, is a collection of articles from the Far East which were sent to her by her sister who lived in China and Japan for many years. It includes lovely examples of Cloisonne, fine porcelain figurines, exquisite cutwork and embroidery as well as many small souvenir objects which used to be representative of oriental exports.

The little paper fans and parasols, for instance, and silver demitasse spoons with pagodas or fish on the tips of their handles are extremely clever. A place setting of pottery-like breakfast-ware were intended for export stands besides an authentic bed tray equipped with tiny graceful covered dishes.

On a lower shelf of the same case is a small porcelain pitcher that has been so miraculously mended with metal clips that the casual observer thinks both the cracks and the clips are part of the design. The elaborately embroidered kimonos shown, once so commonly worn, are used only as formal dress now in a Japan that has adopted western clothing for everyday wear.

The straw clogs do not seem so "foreign" to us now after whole-hearted acceptance of a rubber version by our beach-bound youngsters. (Soon all our younger generation will have curved big toes which characterize oriental feet. You must grip the toe thong firmly or your clogs will go flying off ahead of you as you walk.)

I could write at length of nearly every article in the cases, but you know the old Chinese proverb which in twisted translation says, "One look at the real thing makes ten thousand words a waste of time." So stop in and look at these lovely treasures and don't forget to take the children with you. Both you and the children may come home with a book about the Orient under your arm.

The children would enjoy the photographic story of Kai-Ming of Hong Kong, a little boy who lives on a fishing junk, by Dominique Darbois, or China by Cornelia Spencer. You might sneak a look at these yourself too. You can gain a quick picture of the vast country that is changing so rapidly behind the "Red Silk" curtain. China is the same size as the U.S., but one out of every five people in the whole world is Chinese. She is a potent force which isn't likely to go away just because we ignore her.

You can learn about the changing picture of Japan too from any of three new books on the non-fiction shelf. In "Return to Japan," by Elizabeth Vining, a former tutor of the crown prince tells her experiences there both before and after the war. "Meeting With Japan," by Tosco Maraini, is a commentary on life and the people as he saw them in 1955. The most interesting-looking of the three to me, personally, was "The Japanese Inn" by Oliver Statler. It traces the history of a wayside inn through four centuries as it furnished rest, food and lodging to all manner of wayfarers. Among them was Statler himself, a weary GI on leave. The inn was, Statler says "the most Japanese place he knew." I intend to read this book and find out just what staying there was like.

Sen. Roy Wiseth Gives Views on Tax Program Offered by Governor

State Senator Roy E. Wiseth of Goodridge, member of the Liberal faction in the state legislature, late last week released the following statement giving his views on Governor Elmer L. Andersen's tax proposals:

"So far the Governor has recommended more than $58 million in new taxes. Some of these are supposedly to be used to replace some personal property taxes now in force. However, the Governor has not made it clear how any replacement will be accomplished. He has simply left that matter in the hands of the Legislature.

"The personal property tax on livestock, for example, is certainly an unfair means of raising local revenues. But before the people in the townships and counties in rural Minnesota hasten to exchange this source of funds for a new source, they should be aware of the full effect of the change.

"At a township annual meeting local people sit down together and agree on the various programs for their township. They know that these programs will have to be paid for from the taxes they place on their own property.

"When part of that property is removed from the tax rolls for any reason, including some sort of replacement, then the township has to turn to the state to make up the difference.

"Under the Governor's proposals this would mean that good local judgment would be replaced by some sort of formula devised by the State Legislature. If money from this source proves insufficient, the people can only place a heavier levy on the remaining property in the township.

"It's also good to remember that people in the townships will be paying a significant part of the new taxes that will be used for the replacement funds.

"According to the Governor's plan this would be a new 4 per cent tax on electricity and telephone, a new 4 per cent tax on fuel oil and gas for heating purposes and a new 3 per cent tax on new automobiles and some other taxes.

"As much as personal property tax relief is needed, the people ought to study carefully any replacement plan and clearly understand what it will do before they accept it."

Knox at Northrop

Scoring three points in the fourth period while holding Washington to but one point, coach Roger Dorn's Knox Tigers broke a 10-all tie to defeat coach Ken Swenson's Washington team in a city grade school basketball league game played on the Knox court on Wednesday afternoon.

The defeat dropped the Wildcats into second place in the league standings, one-half game behind the idle Northrop Indians who took over first place.

An indication of the tenseness of the Knox vs. Washington game can be judged by the period scores. In the first period, Washington held a 4 to 2 lead. At the half, the score was 8 to 8; and at the third period stop, the score was 10 to 10.

This week's play will find coach Dorn bringing his Knox Tigers to Northrop for a game against Al Staley's Northrop Indians.

CHECKERBOARD service bulletin
38 Farm Youth Groups show calves raised by Minn. Purina Dealers . . . Sale top $480
Beautenas . . . bring $239.60 average
These fine Beautenas line up for the showmanship contest at the fourth Annual Beautena Royal Show and Sale, Faribault. There were 38 calves in the show and sale.
Thirty-eight Holstein calves raised to approximately four months of age by Purina Dealers as feeding demonstrations were shown by farm youth groups at the recent Beautena Royal Show and Sale held at Faribault. They sold at an average price of $239.60, the proceeds of the sale going to the sponsoring youth groups after deduction of expenses.
The top selling calf, shown by the Fieldon Rustlers Club, was raised by Madelia Co-op Creamery, Madelia, and brought $480. The Grand Champion calf was raised by Sawvell's Feed and Seed, Clement, and shown and exhibited by the Redwood Falls High School farm youth group. Reserve Champion honors were won on the calf shown by the Kenyon High School group, exhibitor of last year's grand champion. She was raised by the Wanamingo Chick Hatchery, Wanamingo. Ronny Thompson of Albert Lea High School was named the top showman of the 38 farm youths participating in the showmanship contest. More than 2,000 people attended the event which has been held at the Rice County Fairgrounds the past four years. During that time more than $30,000 worth of dairy calves have been sold.
Your calves can be Beautenas
Beautena is Purina's name for calves they raise to demonstrate the Purina Calf Program. You can raise calves like those in Beautena Royals on your own farm on this proven program. (Calves in the sale averaged 352 pounds on sale day). We'll be happy to give you the details of this money-saving program.
10 years of Purina Research behind New PURINA EARLY WEANING CHOW
PURINA EARLY WEANING CHOW for baby pigs is a highly palatable, highly fortified, highly nutritious feed made for hogmen who plan to wean pigs at three weeks . . . or wish to wean pigs earlier. It may also be used in early weaning of late-farrowed litters, for orphan pigs or undersized pigs at normal weaning age.
IN SIX TESTS ON 416 PIGS, Early Weaning Chow-fed pigs gained as fast or faster than pigs on sow's milk and creep feed from the 3rd to 6th week. They gained .77 lb. per pig daily—made 1 lb. gain from only 1.27 lbs. feed.
IN ON-THE-FARM TESTS in various areas, pigs followed about the same pattern . . . weighed 23-33 lbs. at 6 weeks. Feed cost per pound of gain on good pigs, raised under good management conditions, ranged from 12¢ to 14¢.
See us for information on Purina Early Weaning Chow results in this area.
HOW YOU CAN GET RID OF LICE THIS WINTER
Hog and cattle lice are just as big a nuisance in the wintertime as they are in summer. A new generation hatches every three weeks . . . and each female has up to 100 offspring! Multiply this problem by the fact that lice are great travelers and will spread quickly through your entire herd unless you take steps to stop them.
You can go after lice any time with Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder. There's no need to worry about cold-weather spraying when you use this economical Purina Health Aid. At first sign of lice, fleas or mange, rub a handful or two of Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder into the hair coat. This finely ground insecticide dust gets down close to the skin where it does some good.
Pick up a sturdy, 20-lb. fiber pail of Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder at our Store or Mill.

Locals Score 4 Goals in Second Period, 5 in 3d Defeat Whirlaways Team

George Hankerson, Mike Aune Lead TRF Scorers

Coach Joe Mrkonich's Prowler 'B' squad scored their ninth win of the season as against four losses when they defeated the Climax 'B' squad, 54 to 30, in a preliminary game played here Friday night.

With Mike Aune and George Hankerson leading the scoring, the Prowler 'B's piled up an 18 to 9 lead at the end of the first period of play. Jerry Erickson and Karl Ekstrand contributed two field goals apiece in the second period as the locals gained a 30 to 17 advantage at the intermission.

The Prowlers continued to outpoint the visitors in the second half as Rick Jensen, up from coach Jim Kuelbs' freshman squad, led the scoring with three field goals and three free throws.

The game's high point honors were won by Bob Peterson of Climax, who scored 13 points.

UND Freshman Sextet Defeats Thieves 9-6

A fast-skating band of North Dakota freshmen, led by the three-goal performance of Ernie Dyda, defeated the Thieves, 9 to 6, in an entertaining hockey game played on the Arena rink on Thursday night.

The NoDak frosh gained a 4 to 2 first period lead on goals by Al McLean, Dyda, Don Stokaluk, and Jack Matheson. The Thieves' first period goals were scored by Daytone Secour, a North Dakota U student who is ineligible for North Dakota varsity hockey play and who has played as a member of the Thieves this season. Secour, a right wing, added goals in the second and third period to rack up a four-goal effort for game-scoring honors.

Don Ross, former Roseau Rams' hockey player, scored a pair of goals and had an assist for the North Dakota freshmen. Ross centered the line of Al McLean and Bob Bartlett.

In addition to Secour's four tallies, the Thieves' scorer were Eddie Holmes and DeRay Offerdahl, who hit the net in the third period.

Unbeaten Elbow Lake Bows to Locals 53-45

Trailing by three points, 26 to 23, at the half-time intermission coach Jack Junker's Prowlers scored thirty points in the second half to defeat the previously unbeaten Elbow Lake Eagles, 53 to 45, in a basketball game played on the Moorhead State college court at Moorhead on Saturday night. The win, which boosted the Prowlers' season mark to thirteen victories and two losses, snapped a twelve-game winning streak that Elbow Lake had going.

A low-scoring and cautiously played first period found the Prowlers, on three field goals by Ron Hanson and a free throw by Don Ulferts, taking a 7 to 4 lead.

Elbow Lake, opening the second period of play, and with Dean Bonrud accounting for a pair of field goals, racked up ten points to move into a 14 to 7 lead. Hanson, who had picked up his third personal foul early in the period, was taken out of the Prowler lineup for a short time, but with the Eagles controlling the boards, coach Junker returned the tall Prowler center to the game.

Harvey Ebbighausen, Eddie Lietzow, and Gary Anderson, converting on two-shot free throws, picked up six points, and with Ron Hanson notching three field goals, the Prowlers pared the Eagles' lead to 26 to 23 at the intermission.

Hanson opened the third period scoring with a pair of free throws, Bonrud drove in for a layup, giving the Eagles a three-point edge. Anderson's one-handed toss; Ebbighausen's field goal on an out-of-bounds play; Hansons' rebound, and Don Ulferts' layup shot, pushed the Prowlers into a 33 to 28 lead. And the Prowlers maintained that lead until the final minute of the period when Dick Larson, on a rebound, and Larry Miller, from the outside, hit on field goals to slice the Powler margin to one point, 39 to 38.

With 3:42 of the fourth period to play, and the score at 44 to 43 for the Prowlers, Ulferts drove in for layup shot. With the Prowlers leading, Elbow Lake was forced into aggressive tactics to obtain possession of the ball, and picked up fouls. Anderson, Lietzow, and Ebbighausen added points on free throws, and when Ebbighausen scored from close-in, the Prowlers gained a 51 to 43 lead with a minute to play. Larson closed out the Elbow Lake scoring with a field goal, and Hanson, who was the game's high scorer, added a pair of free throws in the final half-minute of the game to give the Prowlers a well-earned 53 to 45 win.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Good Luck, Prowlers

In ordinary years it hasn't been necessary to wish good luck for the hockey Prowlers as they move into tournament play. Only to hope that they do not have any bad luck. But this is an unusual year, and it is evident that the Prowlers will have to have a "break" or two if they are to make a successful defense of their regional title in the tournament that opens tonight.

The Prowlers, who completed their schedule by losing an overtime decision to the Crookston Cathedral sextet, 2 to 1, on Saturday night, have posted a record of six wins, ten losses, and one tie. In the shots-on-goal department the Prowlers played on better than even terms with most of their opponents. It was in finishing off the scoring plays that the Prowlers, this season, were luckless.

The Prowlers will have a "toughie" in their opening game tonight, meeting the Baudette Bears at 9:00 P.M. in the Warroad Memorial arena. The Bears, with an attack centered around tehir all-round star, Jack Nielson, have defeated the Prowlers this season, by 3 to 2 and 4 to 2. If the Prowlers get by the Bears in the opener they will, in all probability, meet the Roseau Rams in a semi-finals game, with state tourney berth at stake.

Let's hope that the Prowlers play up to the form they exhibited in their last home appearance here, when they defeated Warroad, 3 to 1. Such play will win the championship.

A Recommendation

It is fitting and proper that the State High School league should be solicitous about the welfare of the boys who are participating in the various athletic programs sponsored by the league. And to that end the league has recommended that mouth pieces, for the protection of teeth, be worn by the boys participating in football and hockey.

We have no argument with this recommendation, but we would like to see a provision adopted whereby boys who wear eye-glasses while participating in such sports as baseball, hockey, football, and basketball, be fitted with glasses having unbreakable lenses.

An incident that emphasizes the necessity of unbreakable lenses occurred in the third period of the basketball game played here on Friday when, during a scuffle for a rebound, Don Sparrow of Climax had his glasses broken. And the shattering of the lens caused a couple of gashes near his left eye, the cuts requiring medical care and several stitches. Fortunately, the eye was undamaged, but the haazrd of serious injury was present.

And speaking of last Friday night's Climax vs. Prowlers basketball game. It was refreshing, and nostalgic, to see a player use the old-fashioned underhand free throw toss. Duane Palm, the Climax center, used this horse-and-buggy toss, and he did real well, too, having four tries from the free throw line and he converted on the four attempts.

Sharing the Loot

A couple of the city's women bowlers — Bess Lang and Mary Washnesky—have been sharing in the loot that Ted's Linoleum bowling team of Crookston has been gathering in travelling about the area and participating in tournaments.

In the tourney held at Devils Lake, the team placed second in a field of fifty-one teams, winning $65.00. Mary Washnesky, bowling in the doubles with Tillie Gebhardt, shared $40.00 as a result of a second place. And Bess Lang, bowling with Kay Burdnie, divided $17.25 for a sixth place finish.

The total winnings of the team was $211.25. And we'll wager that prize money is being earmarked for the WIBC national tournament that will be held in Terre Haute, Ind., in a couple of months.

A Good Squad

That was a pretty good freshman hockey squad that UND coach, Barry Thorndycraft came over here with on Thursday night to do battle with the senior hockey Thieves. The North Dakota frosh scored a 9 to 6 win over the locals, who played without the services of Joey Poole and Les Merrifield.

This was a good freshman squad, but we doubt if it will develop into the greatness that was in that freshman squad that came over here several years ago. That North Dakota freshman group had such boys as Joey Poole, Ed Thomlinson, Ron King, Eddie Miller, Guy LaFrance, Les Merrifield, Bob Peters, and several others. That squad, of course, went on to bring a NCAA hockey title to North Dakota.

In Thursday's tilt here, the best player on the ice was the Thieves' Daytone Secour, who scored four goals against the North Dakotans. Secour, who is ineligible, because of scholastic difficulties, would surely have been a big help to the North Dakota Sioux varsity this season. He attends North Dakota U. but is playing his hockey with the Thieves and the Emerson Canadians.

No Damage from Blaze on Sunday

After a long respite, the fire department responded Sunday afternoon at 1:30 to a call from the Mrs. Armand Amiot home at 1102 East First st., where a blaze resulted from a leak in a gas stove. The firemen shut off the gas supply outside the house before any damage resulted.

Local Quint Tips Climax 77 to 45

Although two of the Prowler regulars — Gary Anderson and Harvey Ebbighausen—were kept out of the starting lineup because of slight colds (the two boys did get into the game, and Anderson rolled up 17 points), Coach Jack Junker's blue-and-gold cagers had a comparatively easy time in defeating the Climax Vikings, 77 to 45, in a district conference basketball game played here Friday night.

On Friday night, Feb. 17, the Prowlers will travel to East Grand Forks for a conference tilt against the Little Green Wave.

In Friday night's game here, the Prowlers jumped off to a commanding 23 to 9 lead in the first period. Leading that first period scoring surge for the Prowlers were Ron Hanson and Gary Anderson. Hanson, who was the game's high point player with eight field goals and four free throws, notched three fielders and a pair of free throws in the opening period, and Anderson hit on four field goals.

The Prowlers continued their strong play in the second period, moving into a 37 to 20 lead at the intermission. And a 21-point period in the third quarter, during which they outpointed the Vikings, 21 to 5, boosted the locals to a 57 to 25 advantage.

Allan Peterson, one of two brothers on the Climax squad, turned in a 16-point effort for the losers. Brother Ron Peterson scored four points, and cousin Kent Peterson tallied eight points.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

In his letter to the Times, which was printed February 6, Mr. Prestebak comments on a beaver dam which may be seen from the road on the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge.

It is true that beaver dams and lodges may be seen from State Aid Road 7. Beaver are a form of wildlife which is afforded living space on the refuge. Mr. Prestebak is correct in saying that many people see the beaver dams.

According to the last official car count made by the Minnesota Department of Highways an average of 44 cars per day passes thru the refuge. It is estimated that 39,000 individuals visited Mud Lake in 1960, most of whom wished to observe the refuge and wild life. Many of these folks have commented on the fact that they were able to see beaver and their interesting workings.

It is recognized that beaver sometimes build dams in drainage ditches and that they are a nuisance in such a case. For this reason, refuge personnel, in cooperation with the Minnesota Department of Conservation, assist neighboring farmers in removing dams that block drainage. An average of 70 beaver are annually removed from the Mud Refuge principally from areas areas where they are likely to be troublesome on adjoining farms.

Four dams were blasted from ditches adjoining the highway late last summer and fall. All drainage ditches are routinely checked for beaver in the spring. Our regular control program is this year scheduled for the month of April.

Sincerely yours,
Herbert H. Dill
Refuge Manager

Tips on Income Taxes

Prepared by the Minnesota State Bar association

This is the first in a series of informative articles prepared under the supervision of the Minnesota State Bar Association to assist you in preparing your Minnesota and Federal Income Tax Returns.

Generally, you must file a Federal Income Tax Return if you receive gross income of $600 or more during the taxable year. However, if you are 65 or over on the last day of the taxable year, you need not file a Federal Return unless you received $1,200 or more in gross income during the year. These rules apply whether you are married or single, a minor or an adult. Gross income refers to all amounts which you receive for work you perform and also includes income and profits which you receive from the investment of savings and sale of property. As such, gross income does not include amounts received by you as Social Security or Railroad Retirement pension benefits, gifts, inheritances or workmen's compensation benefits. Although not required to do so, you should also file a Federal Income Tax Return to obtain a refund of any income taxes withheld from your wages where your gross income is less than $600.

You must file a Minnesota Income Tax Return if you are single and your gross income exceeds $750. If you are married, you must file a Minnesota Income Tax Return only where the combined gross income of you and your spouse exceeds $1500.

The specific form to use in submitting your return is really a matter of personal choice based upon the type of income you have, the type of exclusions you claim, and the amount of deductible expenditures you have incurred. Federal form 1040 can properly be used by any individual taxpayer regardless of the source or amount of income. However, for taxpayers with only wages and small amounts of dividends and interest to report, Forms 1040A and 1040W are available. You are allowed to itemize your deductions and exclude amounts received as sick pay only if you file Form 1040 or 1040W. Form 1040A can be used only if your total income is less than $10,000 and not more than $200 of this amount has been received free from withholding taxes. Most taxpayers may choose any one of the three forms to use. This choice should be based upon the respective ease of filing any particular form and upon a consideration of the simplest return which will result in the lowest amount of tax which you will pay.

All of the listed returns can be filed jointly with your spouse or separately by the spouses having the specified amounts of gross income. Where husband and wife each have taxable income, it is usually advantageous to file a joint Federal return and separate Minnesota returns.

The majority of simple tax returns can best and most properly be prepared by you, the taxpayer, after studying the instructions available to you. The Federal Revenue Service also makes available a booklet entitled "Your Federal Income Tax" to help you understand more complicated problems and more adequately submit the required information.

This column, based on Minnesota and Federal law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

The daily demand for water in the United States is 320 billion gallons. That's about five billion more than the supply — and the gap is widening. Desalting sea water is a possible answer.

Editorials . . .

"The true rule, in determining to embrace or reject anything, is not whether it have any evil in it, but whether it have more of evil than of good. There are few things wholly evil or wholly good. Almost everything, especially of government policy, is an inseparable compound of the two; so that our best judgment of the preponderance between them is continually demanded." —Abraham Lincoln

Merit Rating

Minnesota education leaders are recommending higher minimum scholastic requirements for high school graduation. It is not clear to us just what they have in mind, but it is encouraging to know that they now recognize a need for improvement. A high school diploma now is not much more than a certificate of attendance.

And it is encouraging to know that merit rating is becoming increasingly popular thruout the country as a factor in the determination of teacher salaries. Dr. Benjamin Fine, nationally known education editor, reports that:

> "Some 500 school systems now employ some variation of the merit rating plan. Although in some of these schools teacher opposition is strong, usually after the bugs are worked out of the program the opposition slowly fades away. School superintendents report that 'apple-polishing,' despite frequent charges, does not take place. Competent administrators judge teachers on the basis of their ability."

Teachers, as a group, are opposed to the merit rating principle. At the last convention the National Education Association said:

> "The association believes that the use of subjective methods of judging the quality of teaching performance in setting salaries may have a deletorious effect on the educational process."

Despite teacher opposition, Dr. Fine reports, merit rating is on the increase. Utah is considering a statewide plan. Florida already has introduced the merit plan. A group of prominent California citizens has recommended that it be explored. The superintendent's council of New York state recently adopted a resolution in its favor.

Now that our state education officials are recognizing the possibility that our system of public school education may have some shortcomings, we suggest that consideration be given to reviving the state board examinations that were so unpopular years ago. They served the dual purpose of testing the progress of the student and the capacity of the teacher. We can understand why neither students nor teachers liked them. That is why we think they were good.

Our national education standards took a terrific beating at the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges, held recently at Denver. According to Dr. J. N. Bush, professor of English at Harvard University, most of the high school graduates who enter college have read very little literature, know next to nothing about the classics and cannot write a page of good English. As a result, he said, these young people "cannot read English with perceptive and discriminating taste". He added that it could be surmised with good reason that "a large proportion of these are only semi-literate when they receive the degree of bachelor of arts."

Less Babbling

President Kennedy's orders for less talking by high-ranking officials in and out of the armed services is meeting with general approval. Some of our military men have been too talkative at times, and their opinions have sometimes been reported abroad to the embarrassment of our government. It would not be in the national interest to muzzle such officials completely. There have been occasions when their comments, although embarrassing to the administration, have nevertheless been beneficial to the nation. It is well, however, that the babbling be stopped.

Commenting on this development, the Toronto Financial Post makes these interesting observations:

> "Washington's 'cold warriors' have got their come-uppance.
>
> "The tough-talking generals, admirals and scientists have been publicly warned by the White House to stop breathing so much cold war fire. It's about time.
>
> "Under President Eisenhower too many Pentagon and Atomic Energy Commission brass hats were verbally shooting from the hip. Not only did they frighten most of us out of our wits, but their verbal violence helped to harden American policy and slow down serious thinking about it.
>
> "At least as serious is the fact that the picture of U.S. policy which they presented to the world was often unfair to their own country.
>
> "Never was there more truth in the famous statement that 'war is much too serious a business to be left to the generals.'
>
> "President Kennedy now has given these cold war hot shots a public spanking. They deserve it and Mr. Kennedy deserves the thanks of all of us for doing what his predecessor should have done years ago."

Skeezix Born 40 Years Ago

We have been reminded that on Tuesday, February 14, Skeezix will be forty years old. It was forty years ago that bachelor Walt Wallet, who played a lead in Frank King's popular comic strip "Gasoline Alley", found the young fellow on his doorstep.

We remember the event, and being reminded that it occurred forty years ago, also reminds us that we are much older than we used to be. But we are glad to know that Skeezix and his fine family are doing well and manage somehow to survive each ordeal that artist Frank King exposes them to.

It is easy to find things to complain about. Most of us have no difficulty in pointing up the things that are wrong in this crazy world in which we live. But there are many good things too that we too often take for granted.

There are radio and television programs that are on the borderline of decency. That is true also for the various types of "entertainment" that is brought into our homes with our newspapers, including the so-called comic strips.

Most of the comic strips are not, shall we say, bad. Several of them are excellent. In this group we have placed "Gasoline Alley" and the Wallet family. And to Frank King, now 77, who has maintained a consistently high standard in his interesting pictured adventures of the Wallet family, our highest regard for the important contribution he has made to the development of a better world.

Farm Leaders Agree

Writing in the New York Times, Donald Janson reports that the farm program of the Kennedy administration is off to a good start, with leaders of the three major farm organizations in agreement on several of the fundamentals. According to Janson there is unanimous agreement that, "increased retirement of land from production, recommended by a Presidential task force, was an essential move toward reducing price-depressing crop surpluses."

This indicates that we probably are headed for an expanded soil-bank program in some form. It appears that it will be less costly for the government to pay a reasonable rental for acres taken out of production than to buy and place in costly storage the farm products for which there is not a market need.

Our experiences with soil-banking have not been good, but the program's past shortcomings are understandable. The soil-banked acreage was not distributed uniformly. Too much of the land that was retired from production was sub-marginal. Not enough of the acreage in the highly productive areas was retired. To accomplish its purpose, the soil-bank program must be spread as uniformly as possible over all agricultural lands.

The task force report recognized this need by suggesting that participation in the acreage retirement program be a requirement for participation in the benefits of price supports. The wheat grower would have to retire his share of the acreage necessary to bring supply and demand for this particular crop back into a sound relationship. That makes sense.

It is good to know that the leaders of the three large farm organizations are in agreement on a few issues. They, of course, are far apart on others and that is to be expected. Whether the business of operating our farms should be taken over entirely by a paternalistic government or the responsibility should be turned back to the farmers themselves, is a question on which there never will be agreement.

Essential Arts

One of the commendable activities sponsored by the Minneapolis Tribune is the annual spelling bee. By such contests held thruout a large area, the best grade school spellers in North and South Dakota, Minnesota and western Wisconsin are selected. Their reward is an all-expense paid trip to Washington to represent their state in the national spelling bee. There are other rewards too.

Pennington and neighboring counties have participated in these contests but, as far as we know, pupils of the Thief River Falls school have not been entered. Under the rules of the contest they are eligible to compete at the county level, and we feel that they should.

But whether or not our grade school pupils enter the Tribune contest, we would favor greater recognition for spelling in all of our schools, and the spelling bee, we think, may be almost as important as a queen contest.

Another lost art that needs encouragement is penmanship. We see college graduates who haven't learned how to hold a pencil. Apparently there no longer is a right way and a wrong way, and each youngster develops a technique of his own.

We will volunteer as a committee of one to pass the hat for a few bucks to buy suitable emblems for recognition of the penmanship champions of each grade. And we think we could raise enough cash to provide an all-expense paid trip to Washington for the teacher in our school system who developed the most winners.

How many times has this man saved your life?

Like most of us, when the kids are in the car, you get that "extra careful" feeling. You know, that's the same way your friend—the service station dealer—feels when you stop by to see him.

Over the years, you've probably come to take your service station dealer pretty much for granted. But when your kids are riding with you, aren't you glad you took his advice and had your brakes checked? His suggestions—small though they may seem to be—may have saved your life more than once. His interest in your safety is more than interest in a customer—it's concern about a friend.

You know, of course, that half the families in America save them.

Your S&H Green Stamps make it possible for you to choose from over 1,500 top-quality, famous brand-name items at your S&H Green Stamp Redemption Store.

Minnesota Farm Land Prices Down Slightly

Minnesota farm land prices in 1960 showed their first decline in six years.

This is shown in a report compiled by Jerome E. Johnson and Philip M. Raup, research assistant and professor, respectively, in the University of Minnesota department of agricultural economics.

The department's annual survey of the farm land market in Minnesota shows a statewide estimated average price of $155 per acre in 1960—a $2 per acre decline from 1959. The decline for the past year averaged 1.3 per cent, with various districts showing mixed trends.

Statewide declines in estimated prices of farm land during 1960 were concentrated in the medium grades, with a very small increase in the better grades and a small rise in the poorer lands.

Changes in per acre values from 1959 to 1960 by districts were as follows:

East Central—Land prices continued to increase in 1960. Per acre prices rose an estimated 5.6 per cent over 1959, or a gain of $5 per acre. This is the only district to show continued increases in land prices in the 1953-60 period. Increases for high and low grade lands were greater than for medium.

Northwest—Poor and medium grades of land showed the larger declines, while better grades continued to increase. The decline was 3.9 per cent or $4 per acre.

Southwest—The decline was $7 per acre or 2.7 per cent. Better grades showed greater declines than medium or lower. Average price per acre was $248 in 1960.

West Central—The decline in 1960—0.9 per cent or $1 per acre—was only in the poorer grades. The medium grades showed no change and better grades rose slightly over the 1959 figure.

Northeast—Prices increased an estimated $6 per acre, or 10.3 per cent. This increase offsets part of an 11 per cent decline in 1959.

Southeast—The price decline from 1959 to 1960 was 1.6 per cent, an estimated $3 per acre. The decline was larger in the better grades of land.

The report is based on questionnaires returned from all parts of the state by farm real estate dealers, bankers, farm loan agents, lawyers and others with knowledge of their local farm real estate situations.

Record Supply of Meat in Prospect

'U' Marketing Agent Sees Slightly Lower Prices

American consumers can look forward to a record supply of meats in 1961—more than 29½ billion pounds.

That amount is enough meat to supply each person in this country with about 165 pounds for the year, or 4 pounds more per person than Americans ate last year. The only year more meat has been available was 1956, when the meat supply averaged almost 167 pounds per person.

About half the meat supply will be in beef, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota. Although the biggest supply of beef comes in the fall months, beef should be abundant all year long. Grass-fed cattle will provide much of the expected increase; hence medium-quality or good-grade beef will be especially plentiful at markets.

Pork supplies will be smaller during the first half of 1961 than they were early in 1960. During the last half of the year, however, they are expected to be larger than during the same months of 1960.

The amount of lamb and mutton is expected to be about the same as last year, but somewhat more veal is in sight.

Even more broiler-fryer chicken and turkey will be available to consumers than in 1960.

The large supply of meat and poultry may mean slightly lower prices, on the average, Mrs. Loomis says. Though American consumers will probably pay about the same number of dollars for meat in 1961, they should get more pounds of meat for what they spend, and it should take a smaller percentage of the family income.

Physicians Cite Nosebleed Causes

Allergies May Be Cause, Says State Medical Assn.

Children who suffer from some allergic disorder are more likely to have frequent, recurrent nosebleeds than those who do not.

The Minnesota State Medical association cites a recent survey which showed that out of 450 children there were 8 per cent more nosebleeds found among those who suffered from allergic disorders affecting the upper respiratory tract than in normal children.

The network of small blood vessels in the front portion of the nose has been found particularly vulnerable to nosebleeds. Local nasal swelling, a common symptom of an allergy, will frequently cause a rupture of the blood vessels. When the capillary action of these vessels is interrupted, the result may be a bloody nose.

The findings in the survey show that often the nosebleeds were of the delayed type and occurred during the child's sleep at night. When no apparent cause for nosebleed can be found the possibility of an allergic disorder should be considered.

Because of the frequent swelling of the nose experienced by a person with a respiratory allergy, the vessel walls become weak and subject to rupture. Bleeding may also be caused by infections which easily attack the weakened tissue.

A Boy Scout court of honor held Monday evening in the Zion Lutheran church parlors saw 47 boys given awards for scouting achievements. Four scouts received the top Eagle Scout awards, while eight scouts were awarded more than one honor during the program.

High point of the program was when James Ewing, Brian Mostue, David Jones and Roger Wilson, all of Troop 60, were given their Eagle Scout awards by Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal, and the awards were pinned on by the boys' mothers. Previously, the boys had pinned corsages on their mothers.

James Lee, advancement chairman of the Pen-Ro-Shall district, was in charge of the court of honor, which began with trooping of the colors by members of Troop 59. Rev. Marvin Carlson gave the invocation and Mayor Orin Green made the welcoming address to the scouts and their parents.

The Tenderfoot investiture was conducted by Morris Owen. Scouts who became Tenderfeet were John Adolphson, Alan Gilbert, Richard Adams, Bruce Thorstenson, Billy Olson, Dennis Larson and Michael Thompson.

The above scouts were from Troop 60. From Troop 57 Domonic Gross, Brian Carrico and Charles Bedard were given Tenderfoot awards, and from Troop 59, Jerry Roisland, Joel Winter, Robert Kauppton and Terry Olson.

Second class awards were given by Connie Jensen, Troop 59. Scouts winning the second class awards were Kermit Solem, Keith Hendrickson, Paul Stokke, Steven Nabben, Wayne Gilbert, Bruce Sandahl, Richard Sjoberg, Tommy Jones, John Feragen, Keith Craik, Bruce Saustad, Alan Shirley, Danny Bacon and Richard Ryan.

The Eagle awards ceremony was the last of the program, after which scouts of Troop 59 retired the colors. The court of honor was ended by the benediction by Rev. Carlson.

The awards Sunday and Monday were in observance of the 51st anniversary of Boy Scout Week, which was proclaimed in Thief River Falls for Feb. 7-13 by Mayor Orin Green.

Another Library Story Hour Feb. 18

Pupils of Grades 1 to 3 Will Be Entertained

"The Fast Sooner Hound" by Arna Bontemps and Jack Conroy is the tale of a lop-eared pup who would sooner put up with minor hardships that be parted from the master he loves. It will be told during the public library's Stor Hour for 1-3 graders Saturday, Feb. 18, at one o'clock.

Arna Bontemp's rendition of this bit of western folklore is delightfully written in drawling matter-of-fact manner which makes this improbable animal seem quite believeable. Mr. Bontemp, librarian for Fisk University, has written books for all the children in his family as well as prose and poetry for adult readers.

Virginia Burton has illustrated the book in a bright free fashion which readily reveals her ability to portray speed and blithe spirits, animal and human. Her love of machinery is evident as each train looks quite determined to beat the outlandish dog. Only the Cannon Ball appears at all relaxed as it pulls into the depot. It feels quite sure it has left the hound dog far behind.

The events which lead to the Sooner Hound's final grand victory weave a story sure to please 1-3 graders no end.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kozojed and family of this city visited Sunday at the Paul Sourdiff home in Grygla.

Hospital and Nursing Homes Confer on Care of the Chronically Ill

At recent meetings of the board of trustees of Northwestern hospital, there has been an increasing awareness of a need for added facilities for the lower cost care for the chronically ill.

Hospital utilization has been increasing steadily, the month of January having set an all-time high for the utilization of all hospital facilities, with 305 admissions and 2,199 patient days. For the first nine months of the present fiscal year, May through January, there were 258 more admissions and 1,802 more patient days than for the same period a year ago.

Recognizing a community hospital's responsibilities in relation to the services of agencies providing rest home and nursing home care, representatives of the board met several weeks ago with representatives of the county welfare organization, the medical staff, and the Oakland Park nursing home for a discussion of problems in which they had a common interest. Another meeting will be held Monday night which will be representative of these same groups and also Christian Manor home for the aged.

The discussion will center mainly on the increasing shortage of beds for all types of care in an effort to coordinate planning in the interests of a better and more efficient overall program.

At a meeting of the hospital board Monday night, Norman Peterson, administrator, told the members that welfare recipients are a small portion of the total number of hospital patients. During the present fiscal year the welfare recipients from Pennington county receiving hospital care has been 6.4 per cent of the total and those from other counties have averaged 4.3 per cent, or a little less than 11 per cent altogether.

TRF Creamery Markets Thru Land O'Lakes

Local Plant Quits Selling Its Output Independently

At a special meeting held last week the Thief River Falls creamery board unanimously approved a marketing agreement with Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. One of the creameries that formed the marketing organization in the first place, over a period of years it has marketed its products independently. Under the terms of the agreement the marketing contract became effective February 9.

In discussing the new marketing arrangement with a Times reporter, president Albert Hanson stated that the action was taken following a long and careful study of all of the factors involved. The creamery must sell its products through a marketing agency, he said. The question has been which agency should be used.

The board has visited creameries in various parts of the state, some marketing through Land O'Lakes, some with other cooperatives and some with private organizations. The creameries served by Land O'Lakes appeared to be well satisfied with their arrangement and were paying up with those using other outlets.

One of the important considerations favoring Land O'Lakes in our area, Mr. Hanson stated, is the fact that they are already here. To sell through some other agency would be to divide the field. In these operations volume is very important and by selling through the agency that already is here means that the larger volume should make possible greater efficiency and lower handling costs.

Hanson said, "The members of the board have concluded that with the additional volume of our creamery, Land O'Lakes will be able to do a better job in his area. We have satisfied ourselves that this association will be in our own best interests as well as in the best interests of the industry thruout northwestern Minnesota."

Council Submits Request for Law on New Villages

Acts Tuesday Afternoon on Measure Affecting Formation of Villages

In what was probably one of the shortest council meetings on record the city council Tuesday afternoon, in a special meeting, approved a resolution amending proposed special legislation concerning incorporation of villages in Pennington county.

At the January meeting of the council, Donald L. Olson, a member of the county board of commissioners, asked that the council adopt a resolution asking the state legislature to pass special legislation which would require approval of the county board before any area within the county could be incorporated as a village.

The resolution was passed and the request sent to the legislature, members of which sent a draft of the proposed law, as written for action by the legislature, to the council for approval.

The draft, as acted upon by the council at Tuesday's meeting, slightly shorter and somewhat different in form than the original sent to the legislature, although retaining its original intent. It was passed unanimously by those present at the special meeting.

The whole proceedings in the council chambers took approximately 10 minutes, according to Larry Thorstenson, city clerk.

Seek Applicants for 4-H Key Award

H. Sandberg, Marshall Co. 4-H Agent, Gives Details

The 4-H key award, one of the highest honors in 4-H, will be offered again for the ninth year, according to Marshall county 4-H club agent, Harlem Sandberg.

The award program is designed to encourage 4-H'ers to broaden their experiences, develop leadership abilities and recognize citizenship responsibilities, Sandberg explains.

Last year in Minnesota 635 young people received the award. Three of these were Marshall County 4-H members.

To be eligible for the key award, club members must have been active in junior leadership for three years, 4-H club work for five and must be 16 years of age by January 1, 1961. A point system is used to recognize participation in project work, demonstrating, holding office, exhibiting and other 4-H activities. 4-H'ers with sufficient points will earn an award.

The actual award is a gold key on a necklace for the girls and on a tie clasp for the boys. An honor certificate accompanies the key. All club members interested in the award may get application blanks from the Marshall county extension office.

Cities Service Oil Company and the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service are co-sponsor of the program.

Proof Required to Get Social Security

Must Submit Evidence of Age and Last Year Income

A person applying for retirement benefits needs to submit proof of age and proof of his or her earnings for 1960, Walter D. Kistler, district manager, said today in Grand Forks, N. D.

"The best evidence of age," he said, "is a birth certificate issued shortly after birth, but people who do not have birth certificates can prove their age in a number of other ways." Baptismal records, birth date records in family Bibles, marriage certificates, voting records, and other old documents may also be acceptable.

To furnish proof of his earnings in 1960, a person who has worked for someone else can use the W-2 form given him by his employer. A self-employed person should bring a copy of his tax return for 1960, and also some evidence that the tax was paid, such as a cancelled check. He should also have an idea of how much he may earn in 1961, if he believes that he will be doing any further work.

Efforts to get some firms and employes, who had not contributed, to give to the Community Chest, have been unsuccessful, the co-chairmen said, and it appears all that is to be collected has been received in either cash or pledges.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Relly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

With weather like we've had lately it seems hard to explain the —30 stuff we went through some weeks ago. Maybe we live right.

Having just returned from the state convention of Minnesota Chamber of Commerce Executives I would like to tell you a little about what we did. St. Paul was host this year at the Hotels Lowry and St. Paul. We began the convention by taking care of our organization business. Included in this was annual audit; I was happy to serve on the audit committee along with Glenn Carlson, manager at St. Cloud and formerly of Thief River Falls.

Harry Berg of Faribault served as that city's interim manager and as president at different times. Mr. Berg spoke on "The Chamber Image" which was an ingenious lecture. One thing that I remember him saying was a description of a Chamber manager's job. He stated, "a manager is like a cat on a hot, tin roof with no place to jump but down amongst the barking dogs." Without complaining I can assure you that at some times that description is 100% accurate. I smiled a little when Mr. Berg came out with it anyway.

Another highlight of the convention was the performance we witnessed at the St. Paul Ice Capades. It was truly one of the finest bits of show business that I have ever seen. The show is well worth seeing if you can.

On Friday morning we hosted the state legislators as we presented the results of our state Business Climate Survey. I was happy to see our Senator, Roy E. Wiseth there and I am sure that he enjoyed the breakfast that the Minnesota Arrowhead Association sponsored.

We heard an address by Governor Andersen in which he explained his budget message to some degree. Governor Andersen pointed out that regardless what type of tax reform we see he feels that it is imperative that the average taxpayer is impressed with where tax money comes from.

We had numerous sessions that I won't go into. I would like to say that our annual banquet heard a tremendous Dixieland jazz band and Mr. Rollo Ferrell, "The Human Echo" who claims that he is "short-circuited". He can say anything you say, exactly when you say it, in any language you say it. Quite different!

Also in an language you want to say it I'm sure you'll agree that you'll be happy when You Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made — In the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

National Guard Set to Hold Practice Alert

The Minnesota Army and Air National Guard will call a statewide practice alert sometime between February 17 and 27, it was announced today.

Brigadier General Chester J. Moeglein, Minnesota adjutant general, said the alert will have a double purpose. It will test the Guard's alert and rapid assembly plans and be the Muster Day observance which is conducted nationally each year in commemoration of George Washington's birthdate.

He said Guard commanders will not receive advance information on the exact date or time of the alert.

The alert will start when Colonel Leon H. Hagen, assistant adjutant general, calls the 47th division commanding general, the Air Guard commander and commanders of nondivisional support units.

These commanders will notify their subordinate officers who in turn will inform key men in prepared assembly plans and so on down the line until all Guardsmen are alerted.

"Units will assemble in their home armories," General Moeglein said, "and move to establish security positions at strategic areas in their communities.

"This is an annual emergency readiness test of the Minnesota National Guard," General Moeglein said. "We must know how quickly our Guardsmen can be assembled and ready for a State or national emergency."

In 1960, the Guard units throughout the state were assembled and on duty at assigned stations within two hours after the initial alert order.

Tips on Income Taxes

Prepared by the Minnesota State Bar association

Filing a Declaration of Estimated Tax

(This is the second in a series of articles on Income Tax made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar association, public relations committee.)

The Declaration of Estimated Tax, Form 1040 ES, is overlooked by many taxpayers who regularly file federal returns. The purpose of this declaration is to put you on a pay-as-you-go basis as income is earned, where either the income you earn is not subject to withholding or the withholding taxes are less than the net tax which you will have to pay upon filing your return.

Failure to file this return may result in a penalty of a 6 per cent interest charge on the uncent interest charge on the underpayment of installments which you should have paid. It is to your advantage to file the return and pay your taxes on an installment basis so that you will not have a large amount of tax due at the time you file your return. In addition, the filing of this required return can protect you from incurring substantial interest charges where your income for the coming year results in a tax substantially larger than your tax for the previous year.

Generally, an estimate must be filed if you expect to earn more than $200 in income not covered by withholding taxes and your estimated tax is $40 or more. In addition, you must file this return if you are single and expect to earn more than $5,000 in 1961 or are married and expect to receive more than $10,000 in 1961, and your estimated tax is $40 or more.

If you are within the class of taxpayers required to file this return, your estimate is due not later than April 15, 1961, on form 1040 ES. With the return you must pay your first quarterly installment of estimated tax. Similar quarterly payments are due on June 15, 1961, September 15, 1961 and January 15, 1962. By filing this return and estimating your income tax to be the same or greater than the tax which you paid for the previous year, you will avoid all liability for interest penalties under the provisions of this section. However, if you attempt to estimate your exact amount of tax for the coming year, and make an incorrect estimate, you should file an estimate or amend your estimate on the date the next quarterly tax payment is due and pay your amended estimated taxes over the remaining installment periods.

Farmers who receive at least two-thirds of their gross income from farming may elect to wait until January 15, 1962 to file their Declaration of Estimated 1961 income tax. At that time, the entire estimated income tax is due. However, if he prefers, a farmer may file his final 1961 income tax return by February 15, 1962, and pay his entire tax due at that time instead of filing an estimate on or before January 15, 1962.

In Memorium

In loving memory of our son and brother Clifford N. Kolstrand who passed away four sad years ago, Feb. 18, 1957.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near, of one so dearly loved by all, he bade no one the last farewell.
He said goodbye to none, the heavenly gate just opened wide, a loving voice said come.
More and more each day we miss him.
Friends may think our wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow that is within our heart concealed.
Days of sadness still come o'er us. Tears in silence often flow, for memory keeps him ever near us,
Though he died four years ago.—
Sadly missed by Pete Kolstrand and family. 1t14p

Prowlers Six Wins 1st Round in Region Play

A tremendous come-from-behind effort, culminating in a 3 to 2 win in overtime, carried the hockey Prowlers past the Baudette Bears and into the semi-finals of the Region Eight hockey tournament. The Prowlers, meeting the Baudette team in a first round game at the Warroad arena on Monday night, gave up two goals to the Bears in the first period, and then rallied to tie the game at 2-all in the third period, forcing overtime play. After two eight-minute overtime periods, the two teams were still deadlocked. At the 1:43 mark of the third overtime period, young Wayne Loeffler, on a short shot from five feet out, dunked the puck into the east cage to end the marathon and give coach Gene Sarks' club a well-earned win.

On Thursday night at 7:30 P.M., the Prowlers will meet the Roseau Rams at Roseau in a Region Eight hockey tournament semi-finals game. The winner of this game will gain a berth in the state tournament.

In Monday night's thriller, coach John Tingtsad's Baudette club notched the first goal of the game when Larry Levasseur, taking a pass from Jack Nielson, swept around Prowler defense and came in for a point-blank shot at goal, scoring at the 6:30 mark. And when Levasseur, pouncing on a rebound off Nielson's stick, banged in a goal at the 8:00 mark, the Bears held a 2 to 0 lead.

Baudette, on some capable goal-tending by Dave Wammer, kept the Prowlers scoreless until late in the third period when, at the 7:30 mark, Larry Poole, picking up Tim Teal's rebound shot, flipped the puck into the net. And with less than three minutes of play remaining, Tim Teal, sweeping backhanded a shot into the upper right-hand corner of the west goal to send the game into overtime.

The two teams rocketed thru a pair of eight-minute overtime sessions, with the Prowlers having an edge in the shots-on-goal department, without breaking the deadlock. In the third overtime period, Keith Poppenhagen flipped the puck into the Baudette zone from center ice. Loeffler, coming in to harass the Baudette defense as they attempted to clear the puck, recovered the puck near the Baudette net, and then from just off to the side of te goal-crease, the young Prowler right wing flicked off the game-ending goal, scoring at the 1:43 mark of the third overtime period.

Schedule, Friday, Feb. 17

Plummer at Red Lake Falls
Fisher at Alvarado

The Plummer Cardinals, although dropping a decision to the Godridge Huskies by one point, losing by a 40 to 39 score, continue to pace the Polar basketball conference. The Cardinals hold a one game lead over the Oslo squad. Plummer will engage in Red Lake county rivalry this week when they meet coach Andy McCarty's Red Lake Falls Eagles at Red Lake Falls Friday night.

The runner-up Olso club will be host to the third place Goodridge Huskies on Friday. And the third game on the conference schedule will have Fisher playing at Alvarado.

Whooping Crane Total Increases

The Fish and Wildlife Service reports that a November aerial search of Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge, Texas, and adjacent islands revealed the presence of 36 whooping cranes. These consisted of 25 adults and five juveniles on the refuge, 3 adults and 1 juvenile on Matagorda Island, and 2 adults on St. Joseph Island.

This is the highest number to appear in the refuge area since wintering population counts were initiated in 1938. The previous record was 34 in 1949. Three adults from last spring's flock had not shown up by the end of November, but it is not unusual for stragglers to appear as late as mid-December.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Roarin' Game

Sports fans will have something different on the menu this week when, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at the Fair Grounds curling arena, the fifth annual States-Dominion bonspiel will be in progress.

In the four years that the local club has sponsored the States-Dominion bonspiel, the event has become an attraction that has gained the attention, and the participation, of some of the ablest curlers in the area.

As an indication of the 'spiel's international appeal is the fact that more than twenty rinks from Winnipeg have entered the competition. And according to the information that has sifted into Roger Tunberg's office (Roger is in charge of the entries), some noted curlers will be on hand this weekend.

The British Consols playdowns are now under way at the Winnipeg Arena, to determine Manitoba's entry in the Canadian curling championship 'spiel, and playing in this nineteen-rink event is the Frank Cancilla rink. Cancilla is well known here as he has participated in several States-Dominion bonspiels, and according to present plans his entire rink will be here. The "boys," though, will be playing on separate rinks. The Cancilla rink that is playing in the Manitoba playdowns has Jim Doyle at lead, Dr. Ted Derrett at second, Gerry Duguid at third, and Cancilla at skip.

The information we have received is that Jim Doyle will have a rink here this weekend; Cancilla will play with the Bob Watson rink; Dr. Ted Derrett will be a member of the Al Derrett rink; and Gerry Duguid is listed as a member of the Jerry Saunders rink.

Archie Sloan, who won the first event championship in last season's States-Dominion 'spiel will not be on hand to defend his laurels this year. He is playing as third on the Lyle Henry rink in the Manitoba playdowns this week.

In 1959, the Glen Patterson rink of Winnipeg won the first event honors; in 1958, the Easson Miller rink, also of Winnipeg, won the title; and in 1957 the Hal Haluptzup rink of Bemidji won the first event prize. It's about time a local rink wins the first event loot.

The Rookie of the Year

There is no question that if a "rookie of the year" vote was to be taken by the hockey Prowlers that young Wayne Loeffler would be given that honor.

On Monday night, in a do-or-die first-round Region Eight hockey tournament game at Warroad, Wayne (Lefty) Loeffler scored the goal that gave the Prowlers a 3 to 2 win over the Baudette Bears. The goal, coming at the 1:43 mark of the third eight-minute overtime period, closed out a dramatic game.

It marked the second time within te last ten days that Loeffler, a freshman who has just recently been moved up to the varsity squad, had scored a vital goal. On Feb. 7, in a game played here against the highly-rated Warroad Warriors, Loeffler, with the score 1 to 0 in favor of Warroad entering the third period, punched in a rebound at the 1:35 mark to even the score. The Prowlers came on to win that game, 3 to 1.

Loeffler is only a freshman, and he has three more years of high school hockey in store. It could be that he will develop into the "lamplighter" (the goal scorer) that the Prowlers will need these next few years.

Note to the Newfolden Cage Fans

A revision of the Newfolden Nordics' basketball schedule for the week will have the Mentor team of district 30 playing at Newfolden on Monday, Feb. 20. The original schedul date was changed to avoid a conflict in the Mentor schedule. It's the Nordics vs. Mentor on Monday, Feb. 20.

On to St. Paul

The Ardell Liden rink — Jerry Amundgaard, Donovan Liden, Ardell Liden, and Harold Halvorson—will leave town today enroute to St. Paul and participate in the Minnesota state curling playdowns.

The rink will represent the local club and will compete against fifteen or sixteen rinks in a playdown to determine Minnesota's entrant in the national bonspiel to be held in Grand Forks next month.

Schedule, Saturday, Feb. 18
St. Bernard's vs. Northrop, 9:00 A.M.
Knox vs. Washington, 10:00 A.M.

With but three weeks of play remaining, the grade school hockey league race continues in a ding-dong battle, with three teams in contention for the league championship. The St. Bernard's Broncos hold a one-point lead over the Knox Tigers and Washington Wildcats, who share runner-up honors.

In last Saturday morning's play, the St. Bernard's team, with Chuck Bedard and Bobby Sullivan scoring, were held to a 2-all tie by coach Neil Carlson's Knox Tigers. Burly Bill Dicken accounted for the two Knox tallies, with the sturdy defenseman scoring on solo rushes.

In the second game on Saturday morning's slate, the high-scoring Washington Wildcats, turning in their second five-goal effort of the season, defeated the Northrop Indians, 5 to 2. Leading the scoring for coach Rolland Smith's Washington club was Dick (Gus) Holmes, who hit for two tallies. Other Washington scores were made by Jim Doner, Gerry Droppo, and Dan Brouse. Northrop's scoring was credited to Gary LaValley and Dennis Sampson.

This week's schedule will find St. Bernard's meeting the last place Northrop Indians; and the Knox Tigers attempting to break their second place tie with the Washington Wildcats.

Acting State Tax Chief Appointed by Gov. Anderson

William Burkman will be Minnesota's acting commission of taxation until Gov. Elmer L. Andersen makes a permanent appointment.

Joseph Robertson resigned as commissioner last week to take a position with the federal Census Bureau.

Gov. Andersen Sunday named Burkman, director of the state income tax division since 1936, to be acting commissioner. Burkman, 63, was born in Cokato, Minn., and lived in Hibbing during his youth. He served seven years with a Chicago accountancy firm before joining the state tax department in 1934.

States - Dominion Bonspiel Set Here

Thirty-two rinks, with twenty-two of them being from out-of-town, are in readiness for participation in the fifth annual States-Dominion bonspiel to be played here, on the four sheets of ice in the Fair Grounds curling arena, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Of these twenty-two "foreign" rinks, sixteen are from the greater Winnipeg area, two from Grand Forks, two from Bemidji, one from Fargo, and one from Grafton. The balance of the 32 rink bonspiel will be made up of local rinks.

The first rocks of the bonspiel will be thrown at 1 p.m. on Friday, and among some of the noteworthy "outside" rinks to begin play at that time are the Dr. Al Cera rink, the Dr. Y. F. Bachnyski rink, the Herb Lizette rink, and the Gary Dempsey rink, all of Winnipeg. The Jimmy Doyle rink and the Bob Watson rink, both from Winnipeg's Granite club, will be on the 3:30 p.m. draw.

On the 6:00 p.m. draw, Hal Haluptzok of Bemidji will begin his bonspiel competition. Haluptzok was the winner of the first event competition in the first States-Dominion bonspiel in 1957. On that rink he had as team-mates, Ken Daniel, Don Hirt, and Tom Lapp. Haluptzok will be bringing a much younger rink this year, having his young son on the squad.

Curling matchs will continue throughout Saturday and Sunday, with the event finals, in the three events, being scheduled for Sunday evening. Losers in first round play will move into the second event competition; and losers in first round play in the second event will be drawn into the third event.

Lovely little Cindy Le Boutillier—a six year old child from Zumbrota, collects the first contribution for the 1961 Heart Fund from Governor Elmer L. Andersen. Cindy underwent open heart surgery at the University Hospital in 1957, and has been named "Minnesota Heart Princess" for the coming year.

Looking on is Harry G. Cummings (right), State Chairman for the annual Heart Drive which runs through the month of February until a goal of $330,000.00 is reached. "Cindy is a perfect example," Cummings declared, "of what our heart research dollars are doing. Your generosity in support of heart research will help find the cures of our leading health problem, which claimed the lives of over 17,000 Minnesotans last year."

Bill Asks Creation of Interim Commission

Bills calling for the creation of an interim commission to formulate a long range state park system plan have been introduced in the state legislature by Representative Charles Halstad of Brainerd and Senator C. C. Mitchell of Princeton.

In announcing introduction of the bill in the house, Halstad said the action was prompted by the large number of state park bills being considered by the present legislature and the likelihood that future sessions would be required to pass on such legislation.

"In view of this fact," Halstad said, "it is imperative that a long range state park system plan be devised in order that the legislative proposals can be considered in the light of long range objectives."

Halstad said that the job of the interim commission, if created, would be to select areas for establishment as state parks after holding public hearings and conducting field inspections of potential sites. He added that he believes the commission should also include county park needs in their studies.

A similar recommendation was made by the Minnesota Council of State Parks at their annual meeting held in Minneapolis recently. The Council is under the chairmanship of former Supreme Court Justice C. R. Magney.

It is reported that the National Park Service, while pursuing their own park development program, Mission 66, has been in close cooperation with the Conservation Department's division of state parks in evaluating potential sites for state parks.

RRV Shows Board Donates $10,000 to Building Fund

Members of the Red River Valley Winter Shows board of managers today announce their group subscription toward a new Winter Shows building totals $10,000. With this amount, the 1960-61 board will sponsor the building's attractive front entrance with a special plaque.

"Our sponsorship plan is taking hold fast," said board secretary-treasurer Olaf Soine, "with many groups, organizations, families and business firms sponsoring certain parts of the new building."

"This total comes from the individuals making up the board and is over and above any contributions made by their present organizations. We feel extremely proud of our board's leadership in giving as well as the overall planning and development of the Winter Shows as an educational and inspirational force for all the Valley."

Highway Patrol Asks Help of All Citizens

Following the bloodiest highway record for any year in Minnesota, Leo M. Smith, chief of the Minnesota highway patrol, has appealed to all citizens to assist their law enforcement agencies to reduce the violations which lead to accidents.

Smith pointed out that 721 traffic deaths during 1960 were the most in any one year for the state. "And the toll is continuing to rise over that bad record," he added, "as traffic fatalities are continuing on all our streets and highways."

Minnesotans were urged by Smith to report incidents of careless driving they witness, "to show their concern with this terrible situation."

"I am again asking the good citizens of the state of Minnesota to report any law enforcement agency those serious accident-causing violations which they observe," Smith requested. "It is imperative that this information be given to the enforcement agency as soon as possible so that the careless driver may be stopped and warned before he ends up in an accident. Too many of these accidents involve honest, law-abiding citizens, drivers, passengers or pedestrians who are victims of the careless actions of others."

Smith pointed out that it was not only a right, but a duty to report these violations to the nearest highway patrol officer, sheriff or local police officer, giving the license number, description of the vehicle, time and location as well as type of violations.

"Our investigations show that in about 80 per cent of all accidents there was a moving hazardous violation which had a direct bearing on the accident. Among these were failure to yield the right of way, excessive speed too high for conditions, violating traffic controls, drinking and improper passing.

"With the limited number of traffic enforcement officers, we need the cooperation of every citizen, not only to drive carefully and lawfully himself, but to report the dangerous actions of others. This assistance will help save many lives this year."

We Will Benefit

Area electric power organizations, private and cooperative, have agreed upon a plan for the construction of five huge generating plants in western North Dakota. Each plant will have a capacity of 200,000 kilowatts. They will be built over a period of 16 years, keeping pace with the anticipated increase in demand for power.

Participating in this program are the Minnkota Electric Cooperative of Grand Forks; the Dakota Electric Cooperative of Bismarck, the Central Power Electric Cooperative of Minot, the Northern States Power Co., and the Otter Tail Power Co. The first plant, to be located on top of a large lignite coal deposit near Garrison Dam, will be completed by 1966.

This is good news for the area that is served by these organizations. The advantage will not be limited to low cost production. By working together, distribution costs will be reduced and the amount of reserve generating equipment required for emergency needs will be substantially cut.

Our community will share in the benefits that will be derived from this pooling of generating and distributing facilities. Having available a dependable supply of low cost electric power will be an asset of growing importance as our use of electricity increases.

What's Newer Than New

The New Deal gave us a fifty-cent dollar and it now appears that the New Frontier approach to our economic difficulties is going to take another slice out of the buying power of our savings. We are developing a dislike for that word "new".

Our neighbors across the line in Canada, are in trouble because of this same word. The CCF-labor coalition has ideas about organizing as the "New Party". Another group, made up largely of conservatives and liberals, would also like to be looked upon as a "New Party".

All of which causes the Toronto Financial Post to observe emotionally:

> "Here is an acute problem in nomenclature. If the Socialists bag the word "new", how will the even newer middle-of-the-road people signalize their arrival on the scene? "Newer still" would hardly do.
>
> "But Roget's Thesaurus often comes to the rescue in predicaments like this. It offers a wide range of synonyms for new: "Novel, recent, fresh, green, young, evergreen, raw, immature, virgin, not dry behind the ears, late, modern, neoteric, newfangled, just out, up to the minute, vernal, renovated, fresh as a daisy."
>
> "None of these unfortunately, sounds like a winner. Socialists and centrists will just have to fight it out for "New Party" if they both want the term."

President Kennedy no doubt spent a lot of time thinking up that "New Frontier" idea, and at this time he probably wouldn't be interested in switching from "new" to "novel" or any of the other descriptives suggested by the Financial Post's study. But for future presidents here are some interesting possibilities.

Hail The Judiciary

It is encouraging to know that the prosecution of the nation's leading corporations in the electrical industry, charged with anti-trust violations, has resulted in heavy fines, and prison sentences for responsible officials. Chief Judge J. Cullen Ganey, in U.S. District Court, was no respector of financial prestige or social position in imposing sentences on those individuals and corporations found guilty, in his court, of bid-rigging in the sale of electrical equipment.

This case will have a wholesome effect on business practices at the top level in our country for many years to come. It should also be helpful in restoring the confidence of many in the integrity of our judiciary, one of the three pillars upon which our form of government rests, and which is vital to its success.

In this spirit we like the following editorial comment of the Wall Street Journal, suggesting that not all of the officials who are responsible for what has been done, have been reached in this dispensation of justice. Says the Journal:

> "The Government's antitrust case against various companies and individuals in the heavy electrical equipment industry has come to the final stage, but the questions go on.
> "Some individuals involved have received, besides fines, jail sentences of up to 30 days. By and large the men going to jail had, in the court's view, policy-making functions; those individuals who followed along in a difficult situation will not suffer imprisonment.
>
> "But Judge Ganey, in announcing his judgment of the sentences of the individuals, got back to the great unanswered question of the case. Said he: 'In reaching that judgment, (the court) is not at all unmindful that the real blame is to be laid at the doorstep of the corporate defendants and those who guide and direct their policy.' He added that while the Justice Department had said it had no probative evidence which could secure conviction of those in highest corporate echelons, 'in a broader sense they bear a grave responsibility for the present situation.'
>
> "These were violations which had gone on over a long period of time, involved many companies and individuals and many millions of dollars worth of business. The violations were known and condoned at the higher echelons of the companies or else the top officials were not acquainted with important aspects of their business.
>
> "Either way, the fate of those jailed impinges on the conscience of the leaders in the electrical equipment industry, and the lessons are plain to the whole business community."

Please Pass The Butter

A University of Minnesota professor, Dr. Ancel Keys, urges that consumption of animal fats, including whole milk, butter and cheese, should be reduced as a means of reducing heart disease. Time magazine featured his opinions in a January issue.

Bill Knox, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, thinks Dr. Keys is off his rocker. He points up the fact that while more Americans die of heart disease than the people of any other nation, Americans consume fewer pounds of buter and cheese than do the people of the other advanced nations.

We will go along with the fellow who maintains that what Americans need most is more exercise. Too many of us have come to the conclusion that to walk a half a mile would be impossible. It is so much easier to drive the car.

Swahili at St. Olaf

A freshman, whose home is in Tanganyika, Africa, is teaching Swahili at St. Olaf college at Northfield. Swahili is an important African language. The young man from Tanganyika, who is here to learn English, among other things, is teaching a 30-student class the fundamentals of the language of his native land.

It was his own idea, and the idea came to him when he read that the Russians have started classes in Swahili. And it sounds like a good idea. We are sure that he will be a good instructor.

All of which reminds us that we are passing up some good opportunities to obtain expert instruction in foreign languages when we fail to use the services of the many foreigners who visit us.

One of our difficulties in the teaching of foreign languages in this country is the lack of teachers capable of teaching foreign languages. Exchange teachers offer an excellent solution. Who would be better qualified to teach the languages of their native land than the students of those countries who have spent years learning English. And some of them probably are better grounded in English than our own English teachers.

In the Wake of the "Santa Maria"

(Wall Street Journal)

The voyage of the Portuguese cruise ship "Santa Maria" is ended and its incredible story has steamed off Page One. But, before this diversion from winter's tedium passes out of mind, we ought to reflect on some impressions left in its wake.

For, ridiculous as it was, the seizure of the ship was more than a joke. It might be regarded as a modern morality play, in which those on shore played a prominent role.

Surely, the U.S. Government was at center-stage. Washington greeted the news of the hijacked ship with a deadly serious expression. Under the international laws governing piracy on the high seas, the U.S. Navy was ordered to find and board the "Santa Maria" forthwith.

Then Captain Galvao and his accomplices announced to the world that, appearances to the contrary notwithstanding, they were not the heirs of Captain Kidd. They were instead revolutionaries, risen in behalf of Democracy and bent on overthrowing Portugal's phlegmatic strong-man, Premier Salazar.

At this, the action turned. Washington now wore a tolerant expression. Talk of piracy ceased. The Navy was ordered to parley with the patriots, as though the "Santa Maria" were a sovereign state. Captain Galvao cut a romantic figure in the press and his rambling denunciations of Salazar were fully reported. After much dickering, he sailed his prize toward a triumphant finale in a Brazilian port and disembarked to plot new blows for Liberty.

And so, for the nonce, the curtain fell. What had the world seen? Well, a rag-tag band of political fanatics had taken over an unarmed vessel by force, murdering one officer and wounding another. The lives of 588 passengers (including 42 Americans), uninvolved in Portugal's politics yet made political hostages, had been endangered. Crew members were threatened with execution. In sum, the ship was "liberated" by "patriots" who had no scruple against kidnapping women and children or murdering their countrymen.

Now, what are the morals pointed by this drama? Let a man commit robbery and murder in silent defiance of law, and the forces of law and order will swiftly be upon him. But let self-proclaimed "revolutionaries" break the law under cover of outcries of "freedom" or "democracy", and in the eyes of much of the world, robbery, kidnapping and murder assume the aspect of worthy patriotism.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"For months," said the bridge-loving club woman, "I couldn't imagine where my husband spent his evenings."

"And then what happened?" breathlessly asked her friend.

"Well," she said, "one evening I went home and there he was."

The cabbie, taking his fare to the airport, drove like a madman. He wove in and out of traffic recklessly while traveling far above the speed limit.

The passenger, somewhat alarmed, leaned forward. "Do you drive this way all the time?" he asked.

"No," replied the cabbie. "Sometimes I take another route."

from

Governor
Elmer L. Andersen

During the campaign last fall there were three areas of tax reform and tax relief that I felt were of pressing urgency. These I endeavored to implement in recommendations to the legislature a few days ago, in a special message on tax reform.

The first was aimed at doing something about the real and personal property tax burden on farmers. Everyone knows that the investment in farm operations has gone up tremendously in recent years. This has meant that the farmers have carried an ever-increasing burden of the tax load because of the rise in their own valuations, as well as the rise in mill rates on real and personal property.

On the other hand, farm income has not by any means kept pace with this rapid growth in tax expense. In the special tax reform message I recommended that the personal property tax on livestock be eliminated. I would have liked to also have included machinery and equipment. This can come later. Eliminating the personal property tax on livestock requires $6 million of replacement revenue for local government.

The second urgent need that I felt, was to give some property tax relief to our older citizens. Many people I know who reach retirement age find it very hard to keep their homes, modest thoough they may be, simply because the property tax is so heavy. When they sell their homes, move into rooming houses or other such quarters, they tend to be less happy, not as well, and more prone to accident. I believe that anything we can do to keep our older folks in their own homes is not only considerate but very practical as well. In our tax message we urge that the homestead levy be reduced 20 per cent on the first $4,000 of valuation as under the homestead act. This to be for people over 65 years of age. I also indicated that during the next biennium a study could be made of the number of people, their age, and how much replacement revenue would be needed to eliminate the tax completely on the first $4,000, full and true valuation. If this could be done, say by age 75, it certainly would be a boon to our older people.

The third recommendation was one very specifically provided in the 1956 Governor's Tax Study Committee, which recognized that the personal property tax was one of our most inequitable taxes and a very great retardent on business growth. I propose an important and significant but limited step in the direction of personal property tax change by eliminating the personal property tax on manufacturers' inventories.

These three taxes total $18,600,000 a year and so require substantial replacement revenue if local government and services are not to suffer.

It has been my feeling that the income tax should continue to be dedicated to the support of elementary and secondary education. The minute we begin using income tax for other purposes, education suffers. The last legislature diverted substantial amounts of money from the income tax fund and as a result the state was unable to pay state aid payments to school districts on time and there were interest costs and dislocations as a result. This I feel we must avoid in the future.

If we are to give some personal and real property tax relief, and protect the income tax for elementary and secondary education, the only source for additional revenue is direct taxes of some kind. I have recommended selective excise taxes. The ones I chose were on cigarets, pop, electric power, gas, fuel oil, and telephone. The first two can be put in the luxury class, I suppose, and the latter two preserve ability to pay because the telephone and electric power used tends to vary with the economic ability of the people involved. For example, the average electric bill in Minnesota is $7.80 per month, so a 4 per cent tax on it would be 31c a month. I believe that would be a worthwhile payment to accomplish greater security for our older people, a more equitable division of the tax burden for our farmers, and a greater chance to get factories in Minnesota that would bring employment and payrolls to our economy.

I have indicated my willingness to consider other suggestions and we will mention some other ideas that have been expressed, in future columns. Meanwhile we would be very happy to hear from you.

Accidents are one of the greatest causes of crippling. Each year 300,000 crippling accidents take place on farms. Help these victims by giving to Easter Seals.

How the right start can boost your total profit on every pig

Land O'Lakes Sweet Pork Maker "20" gives a baby pig what it takes to start making profits from the day he's born. It supplies balanced nutrition for efficient growth and gains, plus the sweet flavor of sugar, rolled oats and molasses to get pigs eating early. Each pound has more than 1,800 calories to increase feed efficiency during the 20 to 30-lb. stage.

If you plan to leave your pigs with the sows until they're 20 lbs., make Sweet Pork Maker "20" available 48 hours after farrowing. Lay in a supply before farrowing! Ask us for the complete hog feeding program with management directions.

Beautifully built to set trends in styling and savings beautifully built to take care of itself

This is probably the most imitated Look in automobiles today. Take the roofline, for instance. (Most other cars have!) Yet it looks best on its original setting, the Ford Galaxie. The roof and all the rest of the car were designed to go together. This is what makes the Classic Ford Look.

Moreover, this car is as beautifully built as it is beautifully shaped. As Ford takes care of itself, it takes care of your budget.

See the roster at right, and you'll conclude: This is the Ford in your future. May we open its door to you . . . soon?

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF
Lubricates itself—You go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes).
Cleans its own oil—You go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full Flow oil filter (which filters better through specially placed fibers).
Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.
Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.
Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.
Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and shine Ford's new Diamond Lustre Finish and it will continue to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.
Extended Warranty—Each part of '61 Fords, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Owners remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters and ignition parts.

Every '61 Ford, like the Galaxie Club Victoria above, shares an honor to be proud of. It is the model presented by the international fashion authority, Centro per l'Alta Moda Italiana, to the 1961 Ford for functional expression of classic beauty.

U.S. Death Rate Cut 45 Pct. Since 1900

Mortality rates, the best available measure of a nation's health level, dropped by almost one-half in this country from 1900 to 1960, Health Information Foundation reported today.

In the February issue of Progress in Health Services, its monthly statistical bulletin, the Foundation reviewed the main trends in U.S. mortality on the basis of population and unpublished data of the National Office of Vital Statistics.

In 1900, the Foundation stated, the death rate in this country was 17.2 per 1,000 persons. The 1960 rate, estimated by the Foundation research staff) was only 9.4 per 1,000—a reduction of about 45 per cent.

Although mortality declined for each age group in the nation's population, the largest relative gains took place at the younger ages, especially during childhood. Between 1900 and 1959, the Foundation pointed out, the mortality rate dropped by 82 per cent during infancy and 94 per cent at ages 1-4. The comparable declines at other age groups were: ages 5-9, 89 per cent; ages 35-44, 72 per cent; ages 65-74, 28 per cent; ages 85 and over, 21 per cent.

Death rates have dropped more rapidly for fmales than for males since the turn of the century, the Foundation added. In 1900 the death rate for females was 16.5 per 1,000; by 1959 it had gone down to 8.0, a decline of 51.5 per cent. For males the corresponding drop was from 17.9 to 10.9 per 1,000, or 39.1 per cent.

Unlike the widening sex differential, the mortality differential between the white and nonwhite populations has narrowed, the Foundation reported. Thus in 1900 the death rate for nonwhites exceeded that for whites by 47 per cent. But by 1959 the rate for nonwhites (9.9) topped that for whites (9.4) by only 5 per cent.

One of the main reasons behind the decline in mortality rates, according to the Foundation, has been the fact that the major communicable diseases—leading causes of death in 1900—have been largely brought under control. During the last 60 years the death rate for influenza and pneumonia, for example, has dropped by 86 per cent and that for tuberculosis by 97 per cent.

515,000 Game Fish Saved This Winter in Shallow Lakes

Game and Fish Division Rescues Fish from Lakes Lacking Oxygen Supply

Approximately 515,000 game fish, weighing nearly 60,000 pounds have been rescued from shallow lakes since last October, according to Hjalmar O. Swenson, supervisor of the department of conservation's fisheries section.

Fish are taken from shallow lakes in which the oxygen content of the water is insufficient to support fish life and transferred to larger lakes where they have greater chance for survival.

The oxygen depletion results from the thickening of the ice, often covered with a layer of snow to the degree that light cannot penetrate to the plant life in the lakes.

Deprived of sunlight, the plants become dormant and discontinue giving off oxygen into the water. The fish life, which must have oxygen in the water to live, then is forced to survive on the backlog of oxygen stored in the water from the time when conditions were more favorable.

"When this stored oxygen is consumed, unless conditions improve the fish inevitably die. This phenomenon is called "winterkill".

Swenson said that over 100,000 of the fish rescued so far this year were northern pike, having a total weight of approximately 40,000 pounds.

He added that although this has not been a bad winter for winterkill, fish rescue operations will be continued in several areas throughout the state where needed.

County Buys $1,542 Easter Seals in '60

1961 Sale Starts March 2 Mrs. Gene Beito Reports

Mrs. G. A. Beito, Jr., Pennington county Easter Seal chairman, announced today that residents of the county contributed $1,542.23 in 1960.

Ninety per cent of the money contributed remains in the state and maintained and expanded the following services:

Brought hope, health, and happiness to 460 crippled children at Camp Courage. Provided 179,653 therapy treatments to assist recovery for those crippled by disease, accidents and birth defects. Assisted the handicapped by loan of more than 1,240 pieces of special equipment. Trained and employed 125 handicapped to support themselves. Research, scholarships and education.

The 1961 Easter Seal appeal open March 2 and continue thru Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Beito invites service clubs, youth organizations and any interested groups and persons to join in making the campaign to help the crippled a success.

Fishing Thru Ice Gains Popularity

61 Pct. More Fish Houses In 1960 Than in 1958

Figures released by the research and planning section of the Minnesota department of conservation show that fishing through the ice is a sport that has grown considerably within the last few years. Airplane flights made annually of lakes in the Twin Cities metropolitan area show increases of 61 per cent in the number of angling and spearing houses since 1958 and 46 per cent increases since 1959.

The flights, covering a total of 81 lakes in five counties, were designed to show fishing pressure and year to year changes which are taking place on these lakes. Figures for this year include more than 6,000 houses.

Lake Minnetonka, the largest of the metropolitan lakes, had the heaviest concentration of fish houses; with a count of 2,125, a 58 per cent increase over the 1958 figure of 1,344. White Bear Lake showed 320 in 1958, 346 in 1959, 550 in 1960 and 755 in 1961 for an increase of 135 per cent.

Considering all lakes, the largest increases took place between 1959 and 1960 when an overall 33 per cent rise was noted. Although the trend is leveling somewhat at present, with a nine per cent increase from 1960 to 1961, the overall picture is one of continuing growth and probably increased competition for the available species in these lakes.

At the present comparative rate of increase, it is believed that many of these lakes may soon provide more recreational hours to the winter ice fisherman than they do the summer angler.

Payment for Yule Seals Requested

Judge H. A. Kjos Asks Stragglers to Remit

Christmas Seal funds that are spent to find either a drug to kill the TB germ or a vaccine to prevent people from catching tuberculosis will eventually bring better health to all of us, said Judge Herman Kjos in urging everyone to pay for his Christmas Seals. Judge Kjos is president of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health association.

Six cents of every Christmas Seal dollar goes to the National Tuberculosis association to help finance TB control projects, including research into causes of the disease.

A recent Christmas Seal sponsored testing survey of around 17,000 persons in the Crookston-Fosston areas of Polk county served as a research study for the United States Public Health Service. The project was designed to determine what percentage of reactions to the tuberculin test was due to infection from other organisms that do not cause TB.

"When you pay for your Christmas Seals, you help your association finance this vital work," Judge Kjos said. "Last year the Pennington county TB association appropriated $156 for research projects in Minnesota. This next year, we hope funds will permit us to do more in research as well as in case-finding, rehabilitation and health education."

Computers Indicate State Traffic Gains

The Minnesota highway department's 26 automatic traffic computers showed another substantial increase in highway usage for 1960 over 1959. The actual gain registered was a plus 2½ per cent. In 1959, the count was two per cent over 1958.

The December count showed an increase of 2.3 per cent over the same month a year ago.

Checking the traffic flow for December on various state highways that handle heavy loads at this time of year, the computers came up with some interesting observations:

U.S. 169 near Onamia had a decrease in traffic in December due apparently to poor ice fishing on Mille Lacs lake.

There was a decrease in traffic, also on U.S. 14, near La Crescent, probably due to bad weather conditions. A similar decrease near Rochester was attributed to the relocation of U. S. 14 there.

While U.S. 2 showed an annual increase of 2.1 per cent, there was a slight decrease in December last compared with the previous two months, October and November, which showed heavy gains over those of the previous year.

Ideal weather and driving conditions were given credit for the increased traffic at four of the stations during October. They were: No. 157, U.S. 169, northeast of Chaska; No. 204, U. S. 169, south of Onamia; No. 206, U. S. 65, northwest of Lakeville, and No. 208, FAI 35, north of Owatonna.

Cons. Breeders Has Meeting at Anoka

Two Area Men Elected to Board of Directors

Joe McFarlane, Dundas, was reelected president of Consolidated Breeders Cooperative at its annual meeting held Saturday, February 11, at its headquarters in Anoka. Other executive board members elected were Russell Setter, Deer Park, Wisconsin, vice president; Frank Wyatt, Rochester, secretary; Sidney Stoltz, Plainview, treasurer; Loren Trunk, Princeton; Marvin Larson, Anoka; Donald Walker, Red Lake Falls, directors. George Miller, Austin, was elected alternate to the executive committee.

Prior to the re-organization of the executive committee, the delegate body had elected to the full board 12 other directors, including M. B. Magnusson, Roseau.

The financial statement given by business manager L. S. MacRostie showed that the association had had another good year with a total of 217,300 first service cows bred, which was a 6% increase in volume over the previous year. The report also showed the cooperative to be in a strong financial position with current assets of $392,424 as compared to current liabilities of $103,413.

The Saxons had a word for Spring. It was Lencten, shortened, in time, to Lent.

So the name Lent was given to that springtime period of 40 fast days from Ash Wednesday until Easter.

Lent came to mean a time of penitence. And it is. But it is also a time of preparation, and of promise. For because Lent means Spring, it heralds good things to come. It forecasts the glorious message of Easter. It is the dawn of the most beautiful season of the year.

The bare branches of these trees will burst into bud and leaf with the touch of Spring. Our thoughts during Lent, our personal preparations, also will reach fruition when the 40 days are through.

Lent is the time for prayer and self-examination. Make this Lenten season really mean something by seeking help and guidance at your church services.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
